Final Bulletins

To Present Budget Tuesday Evening

OTTAWA (CP)—Finance Minister Isley said in the House of Commons this afternoon that his budget will be presented tomorrow night at 8, E.D.T. (5 p.m., P.D.T.) instead of in the afternoon as usual.

Report Sea Action

LONDON (CP)—The Admiralty tonight announced "considerable patrol activity in the English Channel and the southern part of the North Sea" which inflicted "loss and damage" on the enemy.

Vancouver Jap Jailed

VANCOUVER (CP)—Masachi Sasaki, 51, was sentenced to three months in jail by Magistrate Mackenzie Matheson today for having failed to report to the R.C.M.P. as an enemy alien since March 9. Officers who arrested him Sunday found he had no permit to remain in the coast defence zone.

Nylon Munitions

OTTAWA (CP)—Nylon followed silk into the ranks of the war supplies forces today with the munitions and supply department announcement that henceforth this production will come under jurisdiction of the supplies controller, A. H. Williamson.

May Come Quickly

OTTAWA (CP)—Navy Minister Macdonald said in the Commons this afternoon that the moment when Canada will require conscription for overseas service may come suddenly and that the government should be in a position to act without delay.

To Launch 5 Ships For Allied Navies

SEATTLE (AP)—Five ships will be launched for the British and United States navies in Seattle and Tacoma this week, it was announced by the U.S. Navy.

Two British minesweepers will be launched in Seattle and one for the U.S. Navy in Tacoma Saturday. The U.S.S. Breton, an escort airplane carrier, will be christened in Tacoma the same day.

The destroyer U.S.S. Harding will be launched in Seattle Sunday.

B.C.A.R.P. Plans To Get Priority

VANCOUVER (CP)—W. C. Mainwaring, chairman of the advisory council of the provincial civilian protection committee, said here this afternoon on his return from Ottawa that air raid precaution needs of British Columbia have been reviewed following Japanese activities in the north Pacific and priority has been given delivery of A.R.P. supplies to the province.

Mr. Mainwaring said the shelling of a lighthouse and radio station at Estevan Point, on Vancouver Island, by an enemy craft Saturday night "proved, beyond doubt, the need for the most complete civilian protection organization in British Columbia, that could be developed."

Many Questions For Churchill

British Commons Roused Over Loss of Tobruk

LONDON (AP)—As all people in Britain today discussed the loss of Tobruk, it was expected Prime Minister Churchill will face an aroused House of Commons when he returns from the United States. Some political observers said many members of Parliament were critical of what they called the "rosy picture" painted by the Prime Minister after the first clashes in the current campaign.

A military commentator in London, however, said Axis claims to at least 25,000 prisoners

Reserve Recruiting In Civil Service

Officers and N.C.O.s of Reserve Army units in Victoria went to the Parliament Buildings today and personally combed every office, talking to eligible male civil servants and asking them to enlist in the reserve army. They met with a fair response, and many men under 50 said they would consider the matter seriously in the next day or so.

Sharp Warning

OTTAWA (CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King said in the Commons this afternoon the shelling of Estevan was the first attack on Canadian land since Confederation.

It should bring home to the Canadians the "nearness and the vastness of the danger."

It should bring home to the Canadians the "nearness and the vastness of the danger."

Substitute Plan

VANCOUVER (CP)—A delegation from the Joint Shipyard Trade Union Conference will leave here tomorrow night for Ottawa to lay before Labor Minister Humphrey Mitchell a substitute plan for the seven-day continuous work week now in effect in west coast shipyards.

The delegation will be headed by Lawrence Anderson, conference secretary. Other representatives of shipyard unions will

Postpone Hearings

VANCOUVER (CP)—Hearings of the provincial public utilities commission, scheduled to start here next week, have been postponed until August 24 at the request of the city of Vancouver.

The delay will give the committee more time to prepare its case for rate reductions or improved services from the British Columbia Electric Railway system.

Sessions will be held later in Victoria, Port Alberni, Qualicum Beach and Kamloops.

French Magna Charta

LONDON (CP)—Free French sources said this afternoon Gen. Charles de Gaulle soon will announce a "liberal Magna Charta" outlining a Free French political platform which will have the support of all underground organizations in France.

Pledge Speed-up

VANCOUVER (CP)—Vancouver Aeronautical Lodge No. 756, of the International Association of Machinists today issued the text of a resolution passed at a recent meeting and pledging aircraft workers to increase production and make possible a second front.

The lodge represents more than 2,000 workers in aircraft plants.

Younger Japs Caused Trouble

VANCOUVER (CP)—Maj. Howard Mellor, spokesman for the B.C. Security Commission, said today the only trouble the commission had experienced with Japanese who are being removed from the coast defence area "has been with Nisei or second-generation Japanese, and this has been in the nature of passive protest against being separated from their families."

(In the House of Commons Friday several British Columbia members expressed fear that Japanese in interior work camps were inadequately guarded and in a position to cause trouble.)

2 Japanese Subs Off Coast, Seaside Shelled After Estevan

First Armed Attack On Canada Soil Since Confederation

OTTAWA (CP)—Defence Minister Ralston said this afternoon in the House of Commons that it was indicated two enemy craft (presumably submarines) took part in the Saturday night shelling of the government wireless and telegraph station at Estevan Point on the west coast of Vancouver Island.

Col. Ralston said about 30 or more shells were fired at the station during the attack, and that their rate of fire indicated two craft were involved.

Col. Ralston said further information had been received from the commander-in-chief, west coast (Lt. Gen. Kenneth Stuart) in addition to that contained in a statement released Sunday.

The shelling lasted about 40 minutes but no damage was done, the minister said.

Canadian naval and air force units were ordered to the area at once.

Col. Ralston said the government's policy on the time of release of information on such incidents was to make the information public as soon as possible after the event.

Victorians went calmly about their business today, undisturbed, but greatly interested in the shelling of Estevan Point, about 150 miles from here, on the west coast of Vancouver Island, and Seaside, on the Oregon coast just south of the Columbia River.

Most people wondered why the Japs pumped shells ashore, especially at Estevan, which is on a rocky, bleak point of land, jutting into the open Pacific Ocean.

Seaside, on the other hand, is a beautiful beach resort.

No damage was done at either point.

The Seaside shelling was more spectacular and residents saw flashes of colored light, leading to speculation a surface raider may have been the marauder.

Best explanation seemed to be that the Japanese needed something to boost the morale of their civilian population. Broadcasts picked up from Tokyo said the shelling "must have been a great shock to the United States and Canadian peoples."

The Estevan attack occurred at 10:35 Saturday night, when the western sky, far over the Pacific horizon, was just darkening.

Japanese Shelling Went Far and Wide

The Japs' fire was erratic. Some of the shells landed near Hesquiat Village, some four miles distant.

Lt. Gen. Kenneth Stuart, chief of Canadian general staff, now stationed in Victoria, said: "The shells landed on the beach or on rocks well beyond the buildings. A few windows in the radio telegraph office were broken by the concussion."

Reliable sources here said no submarine was seen. Estevan is not connected by road or telegraph line and details of the shelling are difficult to obtain.

Estevan Point is south of historic Nootka Sound, where there is also a lighthouse. Around from Estevan, in the shelter of the point is Hesquiat, an Indian village, where boat landings are made three times a month from coast steamers. A little south of Hesquiat is Refuge Cove and then Sydney Inlet, from where inside passages run to Clayoquot and Tofofo. It is usually rough off Estevan and even in the summer there is a heavy ground swell.

Shelling of Estevan was the first enemy attack on Canadian soil in this war; in fact, it was the first time belligerent shells had fallen on British Columbia soil since more than a century ago when British frigates on two

Scenes of Enemy Action

Seaside Residents Grin Over Action

SEASIDE, Ore. (AP)—Grinning Oregon Beach residents were unmistakably pleased today they had been attacked by the enemy. Seaside has a permanent population of 2,902.

The almost universal reaction to the shelling of the area north of here Sunday night by unidentified vessel was one of relief and pride.

"We've waited long enough for this attack," said Mrs. Margaret Robb, Seaside resident. "Now that it's come, why, it's not as bad as we feared."

The thuds of cannonading awakened scores in this resort town. Residents flocked to the turnpike to watch the flashes of gunfire to the north, but did not realize that the Oregon coast was under enemy attack for the first time.

No Troops to Leave District

New Army Command Coming to Victoria

Intention to transfer one headquarters in the Pacific Command out of Victoria and to replace it by another command on the same day was announced today at national defence headquarters in Ottawa.

The headquarters involved in the proposed shift were not identified. Official spokesmen said the move was "operational" and would be kept secret.

No movement of troops is involved. The announcement followed within a week the arrival here of Lt. Gen. Kenneth Stuart, chief of general staff, who has temporarily taken over command of military operations on the Pacific coast.

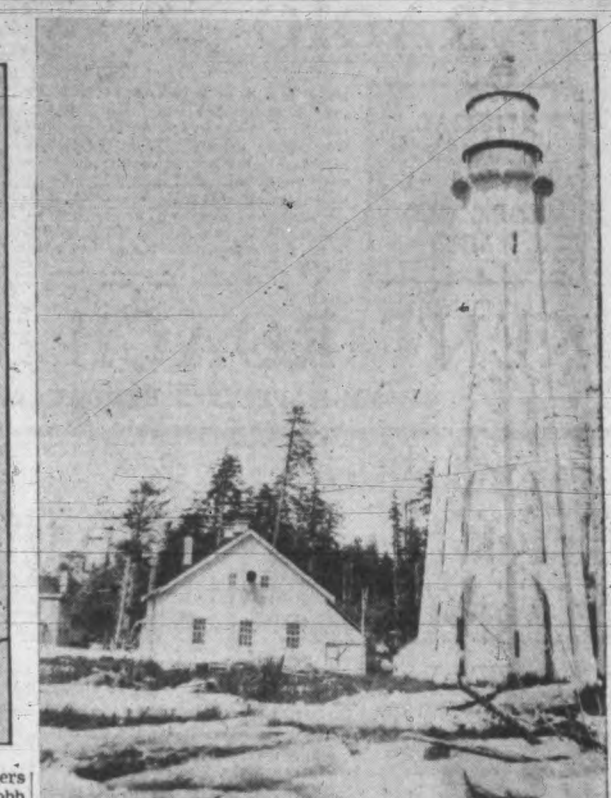

Following is the text of the Defence Department's announcement:

"In order to improve operational and administrative control in the Pacific command and at the same time make room for other newly-created headquarters, it will be necessary to change the

Churchill Hails Russian People

LONDON (AP)—On the anniversary of Germany's invasion of Russia, Prime Minister Churchill has sent the following message to Josef Stalin:

"As the Soviet Union enters the second year of the war, I, as Prime Minister of Great Britain, which in a few months will enter on its fourth year of war, send to you, the leader of the great allied Soviet people, a renewed expression of our admiration for the magnificent defence of your armed forces, guerrilla bands and shots. The shells seemed to be landing somewhere with a great thud, but I couldn't tell what the objective was.

"I don't know whether they were aimed at the land or at some target at sea."

The shelling was heard over an area of approximately 30 miles extending from Seaside, 25 miles from the Columbia, to Ilwaco, Wash., on the north bank of the river.

Lucas said the sound of the gunfire came between 11:30 and 11:45 p.m. P.D.T.

"I hurried upstairs to have a look toward the sea," he continued, "and heard from 12 to 16

Scant Rest For Churchill

WASHINGTON (AP)—Vital conferences between Prime Minister Churchill and President Roosevelt were described today by the White House as progressing day and night in a "very satisfactory way" and it was disclosed the two United Nations leaders expected to issue a joint statement later on.

Laval Desires German Victory

VICHY (AP)—Pierre Laval disclosed tonight that Hitler had agreed "to the liberation of an important number of former war prisoners who will be able to return to France" as soon as French laborers go to Germany to help the Reich.

France, the chief of government said in a broadcast appeal, "cannot be passive now and indifferent to the sacrifices of Germany," and he added: "I desire Germany's victory."

The release of the prisoners, he said, as well as "the French position in the New Europe" depended on the workers' attitude.

"We must either take part in the New Europe or be resigned to being cheated," the chief of government said in a broadcast.

$100,000 Damage

VANCOUVER (CP)—Damage estimated at $100,000 was caused by a two-alarm fire which destroyed the mill at the Sterling Lumber Company here last night.

The blaze destroyed the saw mill, the shingle mill, two recently-installed boilers and much valuable electrical machinery.

To Leave Hawaii

HONOLULU (AP)—Warning that the United States victory over the Japanese in the Battle of Midway "has given many people a false sense of security," Lt. Gen. Delos Emmons today urged all nonresidents to leave the Hawaiian Islands as soon as possible.

Although American air and naval forces early this month routed the largest fleet Japan ever sent across the International Dateline in what may have been an attempted invasion of the United States west coast, it is dangerous to assume the enemy will not return, said Gen. Emmons, commander of the Hawaiian department, U.S. Army.

Press Says New Allied Blows Must Erase Tobruk Setback

LONDON (CP)—The British press today described the fall of Tobruk as a "grave humiliation" and a disaster unparalleled since the surrender of Singapore.

The only comfort editorial writers drew from the latest setback was that the reaction of the British public would be one of determination rather than depression.

Analyzing implications of the defeat, the London Daily Herald—calling it a "grave, humiliating disaster to British arms... we can erase only by titanic struggle"—said Britain's grip on the Mediterranean was further enfeebled, her power to strike at Italy reduced and her task of defending Egypt and Suez made more difficult.

The Daily Herald added: "And one of our most important contributions to Allied strategy—the provision of a potential menace to the Nazi forces in southern Russia—has, for the time being at least, sharply fallen in value."

before the fall of Tobruk was confirmed here, said: "This is a serious knock; the most serious since Singapore."

"The whole course of this campaign has been bitter disillusionment," the newspaper said. "For the second time we seemed to have got the better of Rommel; for the second time when victory appeared to be within our grasp he has contrived to outmaneuver us."

R.A.F. Must Batter Communications

Noting that Rommel may attempt to use Tobruk as a supply base just as he used Bengazi, the News Chronicle said his communications and fortified posts must be persistently attacked from the air. It added: "To this end every four-engine bomber which can be spared should be made available with all speed."

"If we can do enough damage to Rommel's supply ports Tobruk may prove a hollow victory."

The London Daily Mail said the fall of Tobruk completed a disaster to British arms in Libya and was "another warning of the great strength and resourcefulness of our main enemy."

It declared "the munitions piling up in the United States and here will not worry Hitler unless we can carry them into action" and warned that "the fall of Tobruk is another proof that our greatest needs at this stage of the war are building more ships and reducing the losses."

Better Methods For New Front

"Let us pray the western second front when it comes into operation will be organized with vastly better appreciation of the enemy's capacity than we have shown in Libya... we have been outwitted and outwitted... but the fullest allowances for the difficulties does not remove the impression there has been some mighty blundering on a scale Britain does not dare indulge."

It said the common citizen was gripped by "official over-optimism," and declared: "This means either there is still a dangerous weakness in our intelligence service—or else that those directing the military effort persist, even to this day, in underestimating the enemy."

The midnight edition of the News Chronicle which, like the Herald, appeared on the street

Supplies Destroyed Before Surrender

Final Blow at Tobruk Came From East

By HARRY CROCKETT
WITH BRITISH FORCES AT HALFAYA (AP)—Tobruk fell to Axis assault late Saturday when the defenders of the hard-pressed British bastion in eastern Libya formally surrendered. First reports indicated some thousands of British were taken prisoner. (This dispatch was sent late Sunday.)

An all-out Axis thrust from the east pierced the heretofore impregnable perimeter of the British defenses at the port in three places Saturday, tearing open a wide gap, while the Italians shelled Tobruk from the south and west.

COUNTER-BLOW FAILS

A British attempt to counter-attack with armored columns from the south during the day failed when the British force clashed with Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's 21st Armored Division.

No further details were available immediately on the last two days of terrific fighting.

Tobruk's fate was presaged by the heavy tank losses of June 13, when a British column ran into a desert ambush.

It was presumed here that most of the unused stores of equipment at the port were destroyed before the surrender. Some usable British tanks were known to have been inside the defense lines.

NEW BASE FOR ENEMY

The German occupation of Tobruk gives them the use of its harbor as a supply base from which to prepare their expected drive against the Egyptian frontier.

The capitulation of Tobruk had seemed inevitable for the last two days.

The British loss of troops in such numbers, many of them nonfighting or technical personnel, was regarded as serious, but it was said here the loss of position did not mean the end of the desert war.

Lt. Gen. Neil Ritchie has fortified this important road to Egypt and prepared for defense of the whole Egyptian-Libyan border.

R.A.F. Sinks Axis Ships

British Fight Nazi Columns Near Egypt-Libya Border

TOBRUK HARBOR, pictured from the shore with Axis vessels sunk in first British drive.

By EDWARD KENNEDY
CAIRO (AP)—Driving forward without a pause from their capture of Tobruk, Nazi mobile columns have clashed with British forces a few miles from the Egyptian border, British headquarters reported today as the Allied position in the entire Middle East appeared threatened by the defeat in Libya.

The British command said the clash occurred 12 miles northwest of Fort Capuzzo, which is just across the border in Libya. One bright note was struck when air headquarters announced today that British torpedo bombers scored hits on two large freighters and one escort vessel in an attack on an Axis Mediterranean convoy Sunday.

The convoy was attacked south of Cape Bon, Tunisia, on the route between Libya and Sicily, the communiqué said. Two Axis planes were shot down by fighters which accompanied the torpedo bombers.

It was indicated that a few of the garrison troops — Britons, South Africans and Indians—had escaped from Tobruk. Some small craft moved out of the harbor while it was under shellfire from German tanks and other parties fought their way through enemy formations in the desert.

Isolated Groups Continue to Fight

Isolated parties also were reported continuing resistance.

The booty gained by the Germans was not known here, but it was reported that great explosions occurred in the last hours of Tobruk's resistance, indicating quantities of material were destroyed.

One of the gains of the Germans was a recently-built extension of the desert railway to a point south of Tobruk. This formerly reached only to Matruh in Egypt, 120 miles from the border. Retreating troops were reported to have torn up stretches of the railway, however.

The Egyptian government issued an order today to check the downward trend of the Cairo stock market.

The Axis air forces, following up quickly their success in Libya, bombed the Egyptian coast between Sidi Barrani and Fuka.

Capture of 25,000 Men Given Credence

As the battered British survivors of the bloody Libyan campaign worked feverishly to strengthen their positions along the Egyptian border, military quarters here conceded the probable truth of Axis claims that 25,000 of Gen. Ritchie's men had been captured by the combined German-Italian forces which completed occupation of Tobruk Sunday.

There was no denial either of reports from Berlin that German troops had pushed on from Tobruk to capture Bir el Gobi, a desert track centre 40 miles to the southeast, and the port of Bardia, only eight miles from the Egyptian border.

The bulletin gave no new information on developments at Tobruk, saying merely: "There is no further news from Tobruk, which must be presumed to have fallen."

While some British forces were still operating west of the Egyptian frontier, virtually the whole of Libya was presumably in Axis hands. It was expected here Field Marshal Erwin Rommel would attempt to capitalize on his successes by striking swiftly at Egypt in the hope of dealing the remaining British forces a death blow before they could be regrouped.

Defeat May Postpone Making 2nd Front

By DREW MIDDLETON

LONDON (AP)—A military defeat in Libya of such magnitude that it may have blighted the Allies' hopes for a second front in Europe this year and prolonged the whole war was acknowledged today with undisguised anxiety.

All sources agreed the Allies were faced with a crisis.

The next few weeks, they said, will decide whether Germany can be beaten in 1942 or 1943, or will be able to fight on for years, using the oil of the Middle East and the tin and rubber of the Far East.

Frontier Line Of Little Use

The British line along the frontier is of slight use, some commentators believed, so long as the Axis has tanks to flank it through the oases of Siwa and Giarabub, and the reinforcement of Rommel by a division or even so much as a brigade might tip the scales heavily in his favor.

One of Britain's leading military experts said dive-bombing not only decided the issue at Bir Hacheim but was "to a great extent responsible for the fate of Tobruk."

An R.A.F. commentator said R.A.F. fighter patrols could not be over Tobruk all the time. An Air Ministry statement Sunday mentioned that on Saturday, when the assault on Tobruk was taking place, the R.A.F. was engaged in withdrawing from its advanced fields in Libya.

Axis Striking Power Much Underestimated

Even more than the fall of Tobruk itself, alarm was felt because Rommel's assault on the fortress, once so staunchly held against seven months of siege, showed the Axis possessed a striking power which appeared to have been underestimated.

The British press called it a defeat which would require a titanic effort to offset. The newspapers noted the reversal developed suddenly after overconfident reports on the wild desert fighting, and asked whether there had been a blunder.

On the basis of information available here now, the best qualified observers said Rommel apparently had massed such an overwhelming weight of armor and used it with such terrific drive that it could not be resisted.

The Daily Mirror, a frequent government critic, declared the sooner Prime Minister Churchill could get back from the United States "and make a frank and full statement the better."

The times suggested the British army on the North African desert needed "radical innovations in tactical method and mechanical design," and some observers predicted a shake-up in the top command.

There is magic for the British people in the name of Gen. Sir Archibald Wavell, the master of desert warfare, and there was possibility that Gen. Wavell, who invaded Libya successfully before with 30,000 men, may be called back from his present command in India to handle a situation which hourly grows graver.

Sevastopol Fight At Crucial Stage

By HENRY C. CASSIDY

MOSCOW (AP)—The bloody battle for Sevastopol entered a crucial stage for the stubborn Soviet defenders today as the German attackers, already lodged inside the stronghold's outer defenses, fought bitterly and at great cost in lives and material to increase their advantage.

Fate of the historic Crimean fortress appeared to be in the balance as the second year of the costly German campaign in Soviet Russia opened, but Russia's "peasant president," Michael Kalinin, found cause to assure his people that "the end of Hitlerism is inevitable."

Where a year ago the German armies struck against Russia during the night, this year, according to today's mid-day communiqué of the Soviet Information Bureau, "no significant changes took place at the front" in the hours of darkness.

There were scattered local engagements all along the 2,000-mile front from the Ukraine to the far north on the anniversary of Hitler's fateful plunge into this country, but Russian attention was centered on the roaring battle in the Crimea, now in its 18th day. The Germans first laid siege to Sevastopol Nov. 7, 1941, but the current offensive there started June 5.

It was announced the enemy had succeeded in driving a wedge into the Russian defenses at Sevastopol. Location of this German salient was not given, but the Germans were pressing strongly from both north and south of the Black Sea base.

Front dispatches said seven Axis divisions, about 100,000 men, already had been wiped out in the wild hand-to-hand fighting, the sustained artillery barrages and the ceaseless attacks and counterattacks. These accounts said the superior weight of the enemy had forced the Red army back to its central defense lines in the southern zone of fortifications.

In some places Russians were fighting with their forts surrounded, even continuing battle from lower tiers when the Germans had occupied the upper stories of their fortifications.

GERMAN CLAIMS

BERLIN (From German broadcasts, AP)—In hard street fighting, house after house in the shipbuilding section along Sevastopol Bay on Sevastopol's northern defenses was stormed by German troops today, high command sources asserted.

A group of Russian forces was surrounded and killed, it was claimed.

coast Sunday, bombing docks at Dunkerque and other targets.

One fighter was lost in these operations—a loss balanced by the destruction of a German reconnaissance plane off the British coast.

German Claims

BERLIN (From German Broadcasts, AP)—The German high command claimed today a German motor torpedo boat flotilla attacked a formation of small British coastal craft and freighters leaving Tobruk Sunday and destroyed it.

One patrol boat, six coastal craft and one freighter of 4,500 tons were sunk, three other coastal craft captured and 175 men taken prisoner, the communiqué reported. (There was no confirmation of the report.)

A German mine-sweeping flotilla has entered Tobruk harbor, it was said.

Canadian Squadrons Help Blast Emden

LONDON (CP)—Nazi air raiders, apparently replying to two successive R.A.F. night assaults on Emden and other targets in northwest Germany, unloaded high explosives on Southampton Sunday night in a sharp attack which caused some damage and casualties.

The raid was described as the heaviest on Britain in three weeks, but informed quarters said the number of planes which participated was not large in comparison with the formations the R.A.F. has been hurling against Germany.

Two German planes were shot down by heavy anti-aircraft fire and two more were destroyed by R.A.F. fighters over their continental bases.

RAKE AIRFIELDS

The R.A.F. fighters also strafed German airfields in northern France and the Low Countries, and blasted at railway communications, the Air Ministry said. One British bomber was reported lost during the night in the course of mine-laying operations in enemy waters.

Bad weather over the continent, however, prevented the R.A.F. from following up its Friday and Saturday night attacks on Emden, with another assault on German territory.

Observers on the British south coast reported the sound of gunfire, and the throb of motors of light surface craft in the English Channel Sunday night, apparently indicating some sort of clash between British and German naval units.

Similar activity also was reported during the early hours of Sunday and some quarters speculated British commandos might have carried out another raid on the French coast.

FIRES AT EMDEN

A heavy force of British and Canadian planes—perhaps 200 or 300—was said to have participated in the Saturday night assault on Emden, site of a big German naval base. Simultaneous attacks were made on German airfields in Holland and northern France and on Axis shipping off the Dutch coast. At least two squadrons of Canadians, one composed of Halifax bombers, took part in the Emden raid. A number of fires were started in the dock area.

British losses were put at seven planes.

While this raid was in progress new additions to the dashing "Demon" squadron of the R.C. A.F. scored their first victory, adding to the hundreds of tons of Nazi shipping credited to this hard-hitting coastal command unit.

SAFE HOME

Making his second operational trip, Pilot Officer D. J. Urquhart of Sydney, N.S., hit a medium-sized enemy vessel in the face of "heavy opposition" and brought his Hudson bomber home unscathed.

As his crew were P.O. J. A. Thain of Wyoming, Ont., navigator, and Sgt. A. C. Gauthier, Toronto, wireless operator, and Sgt. H. A. Cordell, Russell, Ont., gunner.

The R.A.F. also made several sweeps over the occupied French

Canadian Soldier To Deliver Goods

OTTAWA (CP)—Maj. Gen. J. C. Murelle, vice-chief of the general staff, predicted in a radio address Sunday the Canadian soldier will be known as the "man who delivered the goods."

"Up to the present," he said, "the Canadian soldier has played a less glamorous role than his brothers in the Royal Canadian Navy and Royal Canadian Air Force, but he has important duties to perform and I am certain that when the time comes, as it surely will, he will be known as the 'man who delivered the goods.'"

Speaking over the national network of the CBC, in one of a regular weekly series of army talks, Gen. Murelle said that when the advance sounds, the "gentlemen in khaki" of the Canadian army will carry on with the tradition of the original Canadian corps.

He said the Canadian in khaki was one of the most important cogs in the armed forces — "a happy warrior, physically fit, good-humored and with abundance of common sense."

Don't be the missing man.

Higher National Defence Tax?

Compulsory Savings Rumored as Budget Plan

OTTAWA (CP)—Members of the House of Commons and Canadian taxpayers generally may expect to hear tomorrow the announcement of a budget of record-breaking proportions and new taxation added to the unprecedented imposts now being paid.

The conscription debate will be interrupted temporarily for consideration of ways and means of paying for the war and the normal costs of government, amounting to around $3,000,000,000 in the current fiscal year.

Political circles in the capital speculated today whether compulsory savings would be instituted. The suggestion frequently has been heard that, in addition to increasing the income taxes and particularly the national defence tax, taxpayers would be required to invest weekly in savings certificates or other war securities. So far such investments have been voluntary.

UP TO 10 PER CENT?

The national defence tax now is 7 per cent of the salaries of unmarried persons and 5 per cent for married persons, and members are guessing Tuesday's budget will raise it to 10 per cent and 7 per cent respectively.

Members of Parliament would not be surprised if the excess profits tax rates were steeply increased, but with the provision that part of the increase go to the credit of the taxed companies as a reserve with which to handle post-war problems such as changing to other lines of production.

Mr. Isley will table a white paper during the budget speech giving the government's revenue and expenditure figures for the fiscal year ended March 31. While details of the budget have remained a closely-guarded secret, it is generally expected Mr. Isley will propose to add some $300,000,000 to the national revenue.

This would bring total national revenue to around $1,700,000,000, an all-time peak.

DEBATE PLANS

Debate on the budget customarily goes over for several days after presentation of the minister's statement so that others may have time to study it before discussing it.

After eight days of debate on the conscription-enabling bill introduced by Prime Minister Mackenzie King May 11 there is seen as yet no evidence of an early conclusion.

It is understood Mr. King may make a quick trip across the border while Prime Minister Winston Churchill is in the United States.

Dutch Fighting Japs in Indies

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS, Australia (AP)—A high Netherlands army officer who is the leader of guerrillas carrying on the fight against the Japanese in the Netherlands East Indies, made a secret visit to Australia and then returned to his command, a special Netherlands East Indies communiqué said today.

The announcement quoted the officer as reporting guerrilla warfare in various islands of the archipelago had proceeded continuously since March 8.

The Japanese occupation troops, he said, stay at important centres in the coastal area and seldom penetrate inland, apparently in an effort to avoid clashes with guerrillas. Several times the Japanese have sent natives with notes to the guerrillas, asking them to surrender.

The officer said the guerrillas regularly make hit-and-run attacks against Japanese posts to obtain information on their movements.

Narrow Air Escape

Charles Axhorn, 1427 Pembroke Street has received a letter from his son, Sgt. Observer Cyril Axhorn, overseas with the R. C. A. F., in which is described a dangerous, exciting flight over enemy territory.

"We returned with over 100 holes in our plane from shrapnel and cannon shells," says the letter, "but not one of our crew was hit. A foot the other way and the cannon shells would have hit our gas tanks... and then, poof! As it was we had a lot of holes in our gas tanks, but fortunately our tanks are self-sealing."

"Our pilot had to land without flaps and with one tire flat, but he showed great skill and landed it without crashing. We hit our third ship in three trips, so we are doing all right."

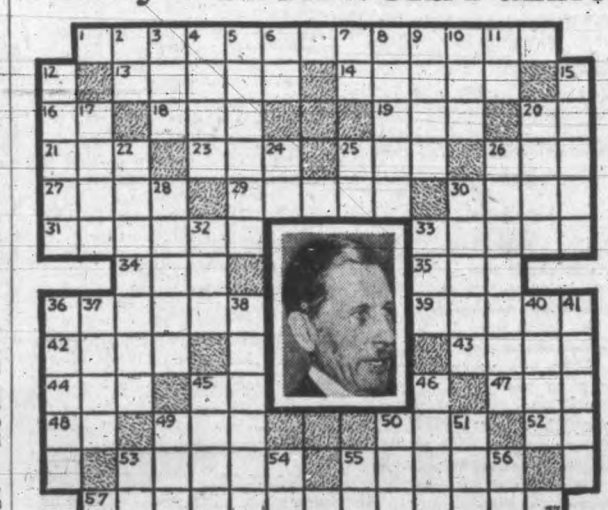

Noted Mining Engineer Dies in Spokane

SPOKANE, Wash. (AP)—Lyndon King Armstrong, 82, consultant mining engineer and a founder of the Columbia section, American Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers, died Sunday.

Armstrong also had a part in the founding of the Northwest Scientific Association and was a life member of the Canadian Institute of Mining and Metallurgical Engineers.

Before coming to Spokane 50 years ago he was a chemist and metallurgist in the mining camps of the South Dakota Black Hills and in Montana.

GUILD GARDEN PARTY

Scottish dancers and the skirl of the pipes will be seen and heard at Christ Church Cathedral Women's Parish Guild garden party to be held at Bishop's Close on Wednesday. Bishop Sexton will introduce Mrs. W. C. Woodward at 3 p.m. when the formal opening will take place.

In accordance with the government's request that tea and sugar should be conserved, there will be strawberry served in various forms instead of tea. Among the stalls will be one featuring baby woolsies and inexpensive household articles, also aprons; a market stall will present home cooking, flowers, fruit and vegetables; refreshment stall will offer ice cream and soft drinks. A table containing work of the sewing circle will be on display.

The Young People's Union of First United Church will hold a scavenger hunt Tuesday, at the home of Dorothy Bell, 2407 Cook St., at 8 p.m. Any young men or women who are strangers to the city will be made welcome.

The Ways and Means committee of the Victoria Boys' Band will hold a strawberry musicale at the home of Mrs. E. J. King, Lyall Street, Esquimalt; also home cooking sale, Wednesday afternoon at 2.30.

ABOUT

JOHNS-MANVILLE

Good News for the

"Visiting Fireman"

Year after year, fire chiefs have told the same sad story—millions upon millions of dollars wasted through preventable residential fires. So, a few days ago, your Johns-Manville reporter made a quick survey in a new residential district to see what home builders today are doing about it. In the very first block of houses inspected, several stood out as "preferred risks" from the fire hazard point of view. They were homes with side walls of Cedargrain. A asbestos siding shingles. These beautiful, modern shingles were developed by Johns-Manville research to answer the demand for a siding material that would closely match the appearance of fine old wood shingles—while giving the utmost protection against fire. Made of asbestos and Portland cement, "Cedargrains" actually cost no more than ordinary siding materials. For free literature, just call your Johns-Manville dealer, V.I. 2000 MORE YOUNG MEN assured security last year with

Imperial Policies

As time marches on, 2,000 more young men will reach the day when their Imperial "20-pay-life" policies become paid-up. Last year, of the 8,000 Imperial policies issued, more than 2,000 were on this ever-popular plan.

Young men like "20-pay-life" assurance because it provides adequate protection both before and after marriage and limits the savings required under the plan to the best earning period of life. They like the flexibility of the plan, too, for it can be made to mature as an endowment by continuing the same savings for an additional period.

Twenty years pass quickly. Ask Dad! The sooner you start your life insurance plan, the lower the premium deposits. The first step? Mail the coupon today.

Over 8,000 Imperial policies were issued last year. To a growing cross-section of the people of Canada, The Imperial Life is "my insurance company."

HOW YOU CAN GET A $100 LOAN AT HOUSEHOLD FINANCE

IF YOU CAN PAY BACK $9.46 A MONTH

No endorsers or guarantors required

WOULD a cash loan help you? If you have a job, you can borrow at Household Finance without fuss or bother—and at reasonable cost. You may repay your loan in monthly instalments which fit your own pocketbook.

Just this to do

All you do to apply for a Household Finance loan is to tell us how much you need and how you wish to repay.

You may choose the most convenient payment plan from the table below. Suppose you borrow $100 to be repaid at $9.46 a month. Twelve instalments of $9.46 each will repay your loan in full. You may prefer to repay sooner in order to reduce the cost. Six monthly instalments of $17.85 each—a total of $107.10—will also repay a $100 loan. The cost of your loan, in this case, is just $7.10. A $25 loan, repaid in six monthly instalments of $4.46 each costs only $1.76.

You need no endorsers or guarantors to borrow at Household—just the ability to repay in monthly instalments. This spares you the embarrassment of asking friends or fellow-workers to sign the loan papers with you. And at no time do we question friends or relatives about your credit.

Household Finance loans are usually made on furniture or car. But we consider character and regular income far more important than the value of your security. You can get your loan quickly—usually in 24 hours or even sooner if necessary. If you should get sick or lose your position while paying on your loan, Household will show you every consideration.

Let Household help you

People borrow at Household to pay taxes, insurance, medical, dental, hospital and funeral expenses, school fees, and overdue bills of many kinds. Household service helps men and women, both married and single, to take care of emergency expenses and work their way out of debt.

Greater Effort Needed Now

BRITONS ESPECIALLY AND THE PEOPLES of the United Nations in general today are swallowing another bitter pill. The fall of Tobruk before its would-be defenders had an opportunity of preparing for Field Marshal Erwin Rommel's vicious onslaught is a disaster of the first magnitude. How serious was the loss of men and equipment may be known before this is read. Military experts in London appear to be dazed by the impact of yesterday's news. The press is furious and wants to know how the reverse followed so quickly on confident reports that matters were going well for our side. This is the second time defeat has been the sequel to evident wishful thinking on the part of some official in Cairo. Mr. Churchill did his best to excuse him on a former occasion; but the House of Commons was far from satisfied. One of the government's most outspoken critics, the Daily Mirror, which got itself slapped on the wrist for its candor some time ago, bluntly tells the Prime Minister that the sooner he returns from the United States and makes "a frank and full statement" the better.

Better advice than the Mirror's, perhaps, is that from the more staid Times of London, which suggests that the British army on the north African desert requires "radical innovations in tactical method and mechanical design." This follows yesterday's "explanations": General Ritchie's armies had too few tanks and too few guns. What tanks we had were good ones; but they were too light and the enemy had heavier ones and more of them. Similar remarks apply to anti-tank and other guns. And while our armies were in the pit practically round the clock, the Luftwaffe, aided by Italy's air force, obviously was stronger than it had been for some months. In other words, the loss of Tobruk and the vastly improved position of the enemy on the Egyptian frontier is another case of defeat by mechanized equipment superior in quality and quantity—employed by a military commander known for his audacity in offensive warfare.

The implications of this latest setback, its synchronization with the serious situation at Sevastopol, are not pleasant to contemplate. But it has been recognized for months that unless Hitler could get into the oil fields of the Middle East by the late summer of this year his military position would be desperate. His vast expenditure of human life and material in his attacks on Russia's Black Sea port, the sustained pounding of Malta from the air, Marshal Rommel's determination to liquidate General Ritchie's forces in the north African desert are all part of the north and south pincers movement directed at the Caucasus, Iraq and Iran and their wealth of fuel so essential to the sustenance and progress of the Wehrmacht. For the moment matters are going well for the Axis. Not the least important aspect of Tobruk's fall, moreover, is the effect it may well have on Turkey in particular and the Moslem world in general. It will add to the numerous difficulties to which the men of Ankara have been exposed since the attack on Russia began a year ago. Nazi ambassador Franz von Papen will redouble his efforts to persuade the Turkish government to be "reasonable" and accommodate the German Fuehrer.

Gloomy as is the news today, however, and foolish as it would be to try to convince ourselves that a major defeat has not been sustained, the new situation behooves us to retain our sense of perspective. Viewed from the wider standpoint of United Nations strategy, and the rapidly-growing strength of the anti-Axis powers, we would do well to permit this latest disappointment to remove the last vestige of complacency from our make-up; the job before us is a formidable one. Canada's opportunity lies in furnishing still more tanks, guns, shells and, above all, the ships that will be necessary in ever-increasing numbers if the material is to be transported to the points at which it can be used by the men who are waiting for it.

Looking Ahead

MR. E. P. TAYLOR, VICE-CHAIRMAN of the British Supply Council in North America, is a man of courage. He went before the members of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association at their annual meeting in Toronto and advocated free trade between the British Commonwealth and the United States. Besides free movement of goods, he urged free movement of people and a common currency between the two countries. He said that free trade and immigration could be established without disturbance under wartime controls now prevailing. He was of the opinion that a declaration to make such a policy effective should be made now by the states concerned.

We hear much of the postwar objectives and ideals of Britain and the United States. But, as Mr. Taylor pointed out, they could be achieved only if they were planned and pursued together in joint co-operation. "If each acted independently with the same selfish, short-sighted policies which helped to bring on the present war," he said, "it would immediately bring America and Britain headlong into economic warfare." He saw no need for forming a common political structure, but chiefly "some concrete ex-dence that we are now aware our common political and moral beliefs cannot be realized without common economic principles." It would be all too easy under conditions now developing, he feared, for the United States "to think the world will be her oyster" with manufacturers protected by high tariffs reaching out for "undreamed of foreign trade."

Mr. Taylor said some things that needed saying, particularly to the men to whom he spoke, for many of them in the past have looked the success of their operations too closely with tariffs devised to restrict markets. If we are to take seriously our expressions of determination that the postwar world is to be one of more abundant life as well as free from political tyranny, then all of us must subscribe to the common economic principles Mr. Taylor advocates. And the sooner we begin doing it, the greater the chance of such principles to become the foundations for reconstruction.

Publicity Stunt

SHELLS FROM A JAPANESE submarine have fallen on Vancouver Island and on a seaside resort on the northern Oregon coast. Windows were broken at Estevan Point; no other damage seems to have been done either there or on our neighbor's territory. The incidents have nevertheless brought a sense of the war's reality home to us at a moment when the cause of the United Nations had received its worst blow in many months.

The attack on Vancouver Island and the Oregon coast has given the Japanese little more than the publicity value which the propagandists in Tokyo will manufacture out of it. If these gentry are running true to form today they are probably describing to the millions in Nippon how the people in all the communities of the North American western seaboard are in a state of panic. To this form of amusement they are welcome. The incident at Estevan, on the other hand, will serve a useful purpose. It is another revelation of the type of hit-and-run tactics that may be expected from time to time—an intimation to the defence authorities that will be duly noted and acted upon with the desired effect.

Futile as this form of attack must be, nevertheless, we should read into it the determination of an enemy who will stop at nothing to gain his ends or, at least, to disturb us mentally if he cannot do a more serious job. The shelling of Estevan Point, moreover, might well have resulted in the destruction of human lives. And if any of us had maintained a feeling of smugness before yesterday's news reached us, it should be completely absent today.

Excellent Idea

MEMBERS OF THE ASSOCIATION OF Canadian Clubs in convention in Toronto last Friday approved a resolution urging Canadian Clubs in Canada to sponsor speakers for spreading up-to-date information about the Dominion to counteract "casual and unfounded" criticism of the war effort both in Canada and the United States. "Casual" and "unfounded" are mild terms to apply to some of the criticism about Canada's war effort—criticism from one or two newspapers and some public men who betray a complete dislike of and disinclination to get at the facts and study them. It would not be a bad idea if the Association of Canadian Clubs would sponsor a visit by some of the critics to those parts of Canada where they could see just what this country is doing. The government would gladly supply them with the necessary passes to the various establishments in which, as Mr. Oliver Lyttleton, Britain's Minister of Supply, intimated recently, near miracles are being performed.

But if those guilty of "casual" and "unfounded" statements about Canada's war effort were to see that effort for themselves, as they could if they really wanted to, it would disillusion them and cramp their complaining style. They prefer to play parochial politics; Canada's huge and continually-growing factory working force prefers production.

Notes

If Russia holds the Germans. If China holds the Japs. If Australia and Alaska hold off invasion. Let us pray.

Canada's army has been the second best paid in the world, but now that place is to be taken by the United States army with a minimum for buck privates of $50 a month, more than double the former rate of $21. In the last war the Canadian army rate was $36 a month, increased to $39 for this war. Australia's is the highest paid army in the world, with a minimum for a private of $62.10 a month.

MR. HOWE'S OIL ANNOUNCEMENTS

From MacLean's Magazine
It's too bad that the good qualities demonstrated by Supply Minister Howe should so frequently be offset by an inability to resist spur-of-the-moment statements which either have to be amended or are upset by subsequent developments.

His blanket announcement that next winter there would be no oil for household heating and that all oil-burning furnaces would have to be converted is an example. Nobody doubts the grave shortage of oil. Few Canadians are unwilling to accept hardship as part of the price of victory. But the manner of Mr. Howe's announcement, amended the following day, caused so much consternation on the part of people whose heating installations cannot be converted, or to whom conversion entailed reconstruction costs impossible within their means, that hundreds of hours of working time were lost.

Bruce Hutchison

ZERO HOUR

THIS IS WRITTEN at the zero hour of our financial year. Within a day or two Mr. Ilsley will bob up with the toughest budget in history. Or at least one hopes so. If his budget lacks fire power at this point the whole campaign against chaos in this country may well fail.

The question at this hour is whether Mr. Ilsley and the government have the courage to do the right thing, for the right thing financially is the wrong thing politically—that is, as political strategy is generally judged. According to the accepted theories of politics, taxes are most unpopular—not an unsound assumption in general—and governments which impose high taxes are not likely to live to a ripe old age. And the worst of it, for Mr. Ilsley, is that the taxes which he must impose if he is to save the nation from disaster will represent the very worse kind of politics, for they will have to hit the small man; and the small man, though he lacks funds in his pocketbook, possesses the vote in the ballot box. He, small and weak in himself, is, in the mass, the dominant power of the country, and when a politician hits him hard it is like sticking pins into an elephant. They don't forget easily.

METHODS

NEVERTHELESS the fact remains that only by making the small man buy less can Mr. Ilsley save this country from inflation. The quickest, safest way is by more taxes on the small man. A fairer way would be compulsory savings which the poor man could spend after the war. Another, roundabout and far less satisfactory way is to ration everyone in the purchase of everything, and something like this will have to be done before we are through with the war; but even rationing cannot of itself control inflation, for men with money will find means of violating the ration and thus bidding up prices through black markets. The only safe way is to take from the people the means of bidding up prices, either by way of taxes or temporary borrowings.

The man of wealth is not a factor working for inflation. He is not demanding more goods than formerly. He is demanding much less because he has less money. This is not to defend the man of wealth who is rapidly becoming a rare relic, a museum piece and a curiosity from another age, but simply to state the fact. Economically there is nothing much Mr. Ilsley can do about the man of wealth. Economically there is not much to be got out of the class of society which earns more than $2,000 a year. The great new purchasing power lies below that figure—lies in the small family which has more money than ever and, naturally, wants to spend it and, in a sane world, would spend it. Unfortunately the world is not sane and the goods will not be there to spend the money on.

BIG AND SMALL

HOWEVER, WE MAY be sure that in pursuit of justice and in pursuit also of practical politics, Mr. Ilsley will hit the big man if he hits the small man. The big man may not be much use in the solution of inflation, but he is absolutely vital in something even more important—that is, the morale of the country. The most vital need in Canada today, transcending economics and finance, transcending even the danger of inflation, is the attitude of the plain people, their belief in honest government, their belief in a square deal. If that is lost through Mr. Ilsley's distribution of taxes, or through any other mistake, the consequences will be ruinous. There is the foundation of the whole war effort. There is the true hope of the future and it must be protected at all costs.

Thus if Mr. Ilsley is going to do a good job next Tuesday we may all expect highly unpleasant news, whether we are rich or poor. If we don't get it, then we can write off Mr. Ilsley as a young man of highest promise who failed to deliver in the pinch. I do not think he will fail.

COLDWELL

IN THIS CONNECTION the recent proposals of Mr. Coldwell, the socialist leader, are interesting. Mr. Coldwell, of course, is out for the socialization of nearly everything. He would socialize the banks, so that if you wanted a loan, a board of civil servants under the politicians would decide whether you got it. He would socialize war industries.

But for the ordinary man who reads his speech in Hansard the most intriguing proposal is that all incomes be limited to something between $12,000 and $15,000 a year—this income to be taxed heavily, so that in reality, under our present tax laws (not to mention any increase therein) no man would have more than perhaps $9,000 or $10,000 to spend on himself. At the same time no man would be paid less than $1,500 a year, if married, and $750, if single.

New Zealand has limited incomes to $12,000 already. Mr. Roosevelt would limit them to $25,000, which would represent a considerable cut in his own pay cheque. One may quarrel about the precise figure of limitation, but the general theory has much to recommend it. And it would be of enormous benefit to the wealthy man. He could take it easy for a change instead of working himself into a cardiac condition.

Knowledge is awareness of the fact that fire will burn; wisdom is remembrance of the blister.

Parallel Thoughts

My righteousness I hold fast, and will not let it go; my heart shall not reproach me so long as I live. Job 27:6.

But 'twas a maxim he had often tried; that right was right, and there he would abide. Crabbe.

SIDE GLANCES

By Galbraith

"How do you do? Are you the man from the gas company, one of my son's college friends, or one of the daughter's boy friends?"

Well Said, Mr. Crerar

By ELMORE PHILPOTT

Minister of Resources, Crerar.

the now aging ex-leader of the 1919 Progressives, who came into public life with a phrase about a "cool breeze from the mountains," blew away some of the fogs of hypocrisy when in the House of Commons the other day he plainly told French-Canada that its present policy might lead to the one thing it has always feared—annexation to the United States.

Mr. Crerar based his warning to Quebec on the ground that failure to defeat Germany in this war would result in forced merger between Canada and the United States, for mere self-preservation of Canada.

He could have, with as much force and more effect, based his warning on a better foundation:

That forced amalgamation between Canada and the United States may come, not because of failure to defeat Germany in this war, but because eight of the nine provinces of Canada might choose to cut the cord of the never-ending tangle over the French-Canadian question—paralyzing in war, but always crippling in time of peace.

There is a great and rising tide of indignation in English-speaking Canada against Quebec. It takes no single direction. But the general drift is plain.

Many thousands of Canadians are saying privately what Mr. Crerar said publicly. They are saying: If Quebec goes us far enough, by sabotaging this war effort, we will end the whole farce by joining the United States and by taking Quebec with us.

BETTER WAY

The chief reason why I have consistently supported outright federation of the British Commonwealth with the United States is that in no other way do I see a possibility of dissolving and ending the racial deadlock in Canada.

Mere amalgamation between Canada and the United States alone holds no attraction to me—for the chief reason that it would be the death blow to the British world-wide kingdom. This, for all its faults and shortcomings, still seems to me the best existing political bulwark of decency and humanity in this world.

But this world does not run according to personal preferences. If forced to choose between a sentimental attachment to Britain, plus a domestic dictatorship by a racial bloc, an increasing number of Canadians are going to say, "What's the use?" They are going to say what the president of one Liberal association wrote me last week: There is only one way out of this mess. That is to join the United States and be done with it.

I do not agree. There are at least three other ways out of the tangle.

One is by federation of the whole English-speaking world.

Another is by a change of heart on the part of French Canada, whereby there would be recognition that the right to separate cultural identity does not include the right of veto over other national policies.

Still a third way would be a forced change in Canada, with the writing of a new constitution, providing for one official language, one national school system, one parliament for the whole country.

The one thing is that there can be no political peace in North America until the French-Canadians accept their position as a mere cultural and religious minority and nothing else.

Challenges Pope to Debate

Dr. Shields Declares Catholics On Axis Side

Rev. Dr. T. T. Shields, pastor of the Jarvis Street Baptist Church of Toronto, spoke to between 2,000 and 2,500 Victorians in a series of meetings Saturday night and Sunday.

He repeated charges he has made in his tour across Canada—charges that the Roman Catholic hierarchy constitutes the fourth Axis power, and that it is attempting to rule the world temporally as well as spiritually.

OPENING ADDRESS

Jubilant over the publicity given his appearance here by opposition to his coming from the Bishop of Victoria and Roman Catholic organizations, Dr. Shields lashed the Roman Catholic Church as "Satan's Masterpiece" in his opening meeting Saturday night in the Central Baptist Church.

That opposition had done him good, given him publicity from coast to coast, Dr. Shields said, adding:

"The unmitigated impudence of a man to propose a British subject couldn't go just wherever he pleases."

"I defy the Catholic hierarchy of this neighborhood. I don't care what they think and probably I'll criticize them more rigorously than I would have."

He invited the Bishop of Victoria and priests to his meeting, saying he wanted to bring the Roman Catholic Church "out into the open."

"There isn't one of them who would dare to come into the light," he charged.

The Roman Catholic religion was a religion of fear and force. It was not a religion of reason and still less had it anything in common with the religion of God in Christ, he said. It was not Christian. It was "paganism in the darkest and densest and most virulent form and primarily political," Dr. Shields said.

"I don't believe the Roman Catholic Church need be feared after the war," he added. It was the most gigantic bluff in the world. Its forces would fight in ambush and darkness, "but when you turn the light on it, it runs," he said.

He denied any personal quarrel with individual Roman Catholics, but said sometimes "in exposing the ravages of Rome some Roman Catholics may get a few splinters of shrapnel."

Hundreds of thousands of nominal Roman Catholics throughout Canada, he said, were in thought and spirit divorced from the Roman Catholic Church.

French Canadians would be just as loyal as English Canadians if they were left to themselves, he said.

CALLS VATICAN AN ENEMY

Roman Catholicism was the enemy of free institutions everywhere, he said. It was the fourth Axis power and just as much the implacable enemy of Britain as Germany, Italy and Japan, he added, remarking, "Though we win the war, the chief enemy will still be in the Vatican."

"The real ruler of Canada this moment is not Prime Minister Mackenzie King, but Cardinal Villeneuve of Quebec," he said. Not a thing could be done without approval from the Vatican, he added.

Dr. Shields told his hearers one of the reasons R. B. Bennett left Canada lay in his weariness of having the Roman Catholic Church continually pulling his coat-tails for special privileges.

Discussing efforts to bar him from Victoria, Dr. Shields quoted Scripture to the effect forces had arisen from the earliest times to oppose the progress of the gospel. That was ever the way of purveyors of evil, he said.

"We have a right to be wrong," he added, emphasizing his belief in the right of religious freedom and saying he would fight for freedom of conscience for the Roman Catholic.

He said he would have felt small had he been in the position of the Bishop of Victoria, who had made representations to the Minister of Justice to prevent his appearance here and had received no support.

He was used to threats, Dr. Shields said, referring to hints that had come to him from the censor and the late Minister Justice Lapointe.

In Ottawa, he stated, he had been unable to secure a Protestant church in which to champion the Canadian Protestant League, because members of the congregation, civil servants, were afraid to offend Roman Catholicism in high office there.

AT CENTENNIAL

"We are fighting Germany, Italy and Japan," Dr. Shields told an audience at the Centennial United Church Sunday "but we ought to be fighting the fourth Axis power, the Roman Catholic Church."

The audience of 1,300 that filled every seat in the church and overflowed into the chapel and Sunday school rooms, heard the anti-Catholic speaker repeat his local references to the Bishop of Victoria and in addition hurl a challenge to debate with the Pope himself in a radio forum that could be heard round the world.

Saying he had no quarrel with individual Roman Catholics, Dr. Shields said there were thousands of people who call themselves Roman Catholics who would be horrified if they knew what their church really stood for.

Linking the Catholic Church directly with the Nazis and Fascism, Dr. Shields said that while perhaps some liberal-minded Catholics in Germany had been persecuted, no Jesuit in Germany ever had or ever will be banned.

"The whole advance of Fascism," he said, "is simply Jesuitism on the march; it's Catholic action."

Illustrating this theory he said the Vatican had tried to influence politics in Malta to gain control of that island and that Britain had been forced to suspend the constitution and revert it to the status of a Crown Colony.

"Considering the Catholic Church boasts of thinking in centuries can we not assume that the Catholics saw what was coming in this war and how vital Malta would be in the battles of Libya and the Mediterranean."

Other instances of the link between Catholicism and Nazism he said, was the statement of refugee Otto Streser, now in Quebec, that Hitler had written Mein Kampf in collaboration with a Jesuit priest, that the Croat political leader, a Catholic, had engineered the plot to assassinate Louis Barthou, French foreign minister and King Alexander of Yugoslavia, who sought to create a Balkan bloc against Fascism, and the Catholic Church's close connection between Franco of Spain and the Petain-Laval regime at Vichy.

CALLS IT 5TH COLUMN

Picturing the Roman Catholic

They'll Do It Every Time

Church as "the world's greatest fifth column movement," Dr. Shields said all the Vatican's diplomatic and consular representatives throughout the world had been given Vatican citizenship, which made them all neutral, with the right of diplomatic immunity from prosecution and freedom of censorship in letters and dispatches to the Vatican.

One of its worst features, he said, was that the Catholic Church still claimed the right to force obedience to its laws.

"Even today, they demand the death penalty for heresy," he said. "They want us to be tolerant but I can't be tolerant of a man who wants to burn me at the stake. I don't want to be burned."

The first hour of the meeting was taken up with hymns and prayers led by Rev. J. C. Rowell of the Central Baptist Church and with an appeal for subscriptions to the Protestant League of Canada and a "bargain rate" sale of its organ, the Gospel Witness, and books written by Dr. Shields, and a cash collection.

Householders are asked to have a responsible person at home between 6 and 10 Thursday night—the time wardens will call. Each warden will have an identification card.

Officials in charge of the rationing suggest all persons living in boarding houses, apartments, hotels or rooming houses leave their ration application forms with some responsible person Thursday night so wardens may collect the cards quickly.

Besides the warden services of Victoria, Esquimalt, Saanich and Oak Bay A.R.P. organizations, A.R.P. units of the Liquor Control Board, Parliament Buildings, Hudson's Bay Company, David Spencer Ltd. and members of the Victoria West Social Club will assist in the collection of applications.

The Wartime Prices and Trade Board, which is responsible for implementing sugar rationing by coupons, has arranged to have the application cards distributed to 19 schools in the area by Friday morning. Women volunteers at the schools will issue the ration cards, which will be returned to the applicants by mail.

Sugar rationing will become effective July 1. Persons of the same family having the same surname may be listed on one card. Ages of children under 16 years must be marked.

Where persons of different surnames live in the same household, a separate card must be made for each surname. Extra cards, if needed, are obtainable at the post office or from postmen.

In North Saanich, A.R.P. workers will not collect the application forms. Residents will return the applications by mail.

UNIVERSITY SCHOOL PRIZES AWARDED

Academic and leadership prizes were distributed to winning students at the University School Saturday at the institution's annual speech day.

During the function Rev. G. H. Scarrett, headmaster, reviewed the activities of the school's year in the 36th annual report.

Lieut. Commander Ogle, a former master of the school, and father of one of the students, spoke of the challenge world conditions held out to the young people of today.

Tea was served in the school dining hall at the completion of the ceremony.

Prizes were awarded as follows: Senior matriculation class, R. Walls; Form 6, J. B. Cupples, D. S. McNicol, W. M. Ogle; Form 5, J. Kitson, D. G. Anderson, R. Carle; Form 5b, T. Wade, R. Harvey; Form 4, W. de Roos; Shell A, D. Beech; Shell B, J. Whitmore; Shell C, A. Cornish; prize for boys under eight, G. E. Pearson; drawing prize, D. Beech; Scripture prize, R. Stephenson; Ker Cup for the best all-round boy in the school, G. D. Corry; headmaster's awards for prefects, M. M. Duke, H. J. Wade, W. D. Mackay.

R.C.O.C. Reserve Workshop Formed

With the establishment of a Reserve Ordnance Workshop at Victoria a highly interesting unit of the Reserve Army is being organized and recruited under the command of Maj. A. McFarlane.

The new unit is officially known as No. 1 (Reserve) R.C.O.C. Fortress Workshop and in addition to the main shop will include a complete mobile workshop and a number of light aid detachments.

Personnel will receive special training in the Canadian Army workshops at Esquimalt and at Ogden Point where they will learn the details of repair and maintenance of the various weapons and equipment in use in modern warfare including coast defence and anti-aircraft guns and mountings, searchlights, instruments, tanks, carriers, trucks and cars. Work of this nature should particularly appeal to men engaged in mechanical and machine shop work of all kinds.

Engineers, fitters, machinists, instrument and motor mechanics, electricians, welders, turners, vulcanizers, coppersmiths and tinmiths, carpenters and storemen are required to complete the establishment. An unusual opportunity is thus presented to all skilled men eligible for enlistment in the Reserve Army to enter a unit for which their civilian training particularly qualifies them, and where they will be certain that their special knowledge will be appreciated and moreover where it will be put to the best use for the benefit of their country in time of need.

Training will be on the same basis as in all other units of the Reserve Army commencing with the basic training common to all arms. This part of the syllabus is now under way and is being carried on at the Bay Street Armouries every Tuesday and Thursday evening commencing at 7.45. Men who desire to join or make enquiries may present themselves at room 7 in the Armouries Tuesdays or Thursdays.

HOW TO RELIEVE PILE TORTURE QUICKLY AND EASILY

If you are troubled with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not delay treatment and run the risk of letting this condition become chronic. Any itching or soreness or painful passage of stool is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once.

For this purpose get a package of Hem-Roid from Modern Pharmacy, Cunningham Drug Stores, or any drugstore, and use as directed. This formula which is used internally is a small, easy to take tablet, will quickly relieve the itching and soreness and aid in healing the sore, tender spots.

Hem-Roid is pleasant to take, is highly recommended and it seems the height of folly for any one to risk a painful and chronic pile condition when such a tiny remedy may be had at such a small cost.

If you try Hem-Roid and are not entirely pleased with the results, your druggist will gladly return your money.

A.R.P. to Collect Rationing Cards

Wardens of Greater Victoria A.R.P. organizations Thursday night will visit each household here to collect sugar ration application forms which have been distributed by mail to all Victoria citizens.

Householders are asked to have a responsible person at home between 6 and 10 Thursday night—the time wardens will call. Each warden will have an identification card.

Officials in charge of the rationing suggest all persons living in boarding houses, apartments, hotels or rooming houses leave their ration application forms with some responsible person Thursday night so wardens may collect the cards quickly.

Popular Girl Bride Of Sailor Today At Cathedral

A well-known girl was the pretty bride at the nuptial mass solemnized at St. Andrew's Cathedral this morning at 8, when Rev. Fr. Lanzan, naval chaplain, united in marriage Gertrude (Gerry) Margaret Mary, youngest daughter of Mrs. David Murray, 132 South Turner Street, and the late Mr. David Murray, to Bertrand Marc Lavoie, R.C.N., eldest son of Mr. Leon Lavoie and the late Mrs. Lavoie of St. Jean Evangeliste, Quebec.

RED, WHITE AND BLUE

Girl friends of the bride had decorated the church with masses of roses, delphiniums and peonies, against banks of fern, baskets of the flowers being placed in the sanctuary, with an archway at the altar steps. Colonial posies, tied with white satin bows marked the guest pews. Miss Marguerite Mackay was at the organ and during the service Mr. Tom White sang "Ave Maria" (Schubert) and P.O. Cunningham also sang solos.

Given in marriage by Mr. George E. McDonald, the tall, fair bride was lovely in her gown of heavy white satin, made on fitted lines with a short train, the long sleeves fitted to a point at the wrists. Her veil of filmy French net fell to three-quarter length from a Tudor coronet, and she carried a shower bouquet in red, white and blue, with roses, gladioli, and gardenias, showered with forget-me-nots. Her only ornament was a gold brooch, a family heirloom.

Her two sisters, the Misses Josephine and Mae Murray, were bridesmaids, the former in pink sheer and the latter in blue. Both gowns were fashioned alike in floor-length, with torso bodices attached to full skirts, and long sleeves, and both wore small matching hats with pink shoulder veils, and carried Colonial bouquets with matching streamers.

Petty Officer George Malenfant, R.C.N. was groomsmen and the ushers were Dr. J. L. Thompson and Mr. L. Toye.

AT LORETTO HALL

About 70 guests were entertained at Loretto Hall after the service. The young couple received the felicitations of their friends beneath an archway of flowers, flanked with standard baskets of red, white and blue flowers. Mrs. Murray welcomed the guests in a gown of black French crepe with cowl neckline, and a small model hat of black straw with upturned brim, trimmed with velvet flowers and lavender veiling, and a corsage bouquet of roses and violets. The wedding breakfast was served from a lace-covered buffet, centred with the three-tiered wedding cake set in a foam of tulle, with small silver vases of rosebuds.

The young couple left on the afternoon boat en route for the groom's home in Quebec, where they will spend his furlough, before returning to Victoria to make their home. The bride traveled in a navy blue French crepe frock, imported topcoat of beige, with beige straw hat and accessories to match, her corsage being of red, white and blue flowers. Bishop Cody proposed the toast to the bride. Rev. Fathers J. A. Gaudette and Lanzan were also guests at the reception.

Children's Fair Nets $6.35 for A.R.P.

Six little girls of Oaklands School, Jean McCall, Marilyn Gray, Barbara Bradley, Rosalie Stewart, Luana Clarke and Marjorie Milne, held a successful penny fair at 1774 Carrick Street on Saturday afternoon, June 13.

A number of parents and a crowd of boys and girls turned out to enjoy the fun of playing bingo, bagatelle, "Hit Hitler" and his pals," swinging and having their fortunes told and their luck with the lady of a thousand pockets, also drinking pink lemonade and buying hot dogs, candy and novelties from the many attractive stalls.

The proceeds which amounted to $6.35 are to be donated to the new first aid room at their school.

REVUE AT DUNCAN

The annual dance revue given by the pupils of the Patricia Ballet School, Duncan, at the Guide Hall, on Friday evening, was a decided success. From the "larks" to the older ones, all did their parts very well and were a credit to their teacher, Miss Pat Carr-Hilton. The program was divided into five scenes, the second "Sea Night," where the moon, the stars, the mermaids the "Ballet of the Allies" were most attractive. Guest artists were Ronald Grouhel, tap dancer, and Eleanor Hassell, vocalist. Mrs. F. B. Carr-Hilton, Vancouver, was at the piano, and R. Grouhel, drums. Proceeds will be given towards material for war work.

MRS. LOGAN MAYHEW, the former Margaret Jane Bucklin, whose marriage took place in Hollywood Congregational Church, Los Angeles, on June 13. She is the youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George A. Bucklin, formerly of Victoria, and the groom the elder son of Mr. R. W. Mayhew, M.P., and Mrs. Mayhew. The young couple flew from Los Angeles to Vancouver, immediately after their wedding, and have been honeymooning at Jasper Park. They are expected in Victoria towards the end of the week to make their home here.

Social and Personal

Mrs. A. Blair, Edmonton, who has been visiting relatives in Vancouver, spent the week-end in Langford, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. G. R. King, Island Highway.

Mrs. Allan H. Edwards, who has been visiting friends in eastern Canada, is now a guest of her son, Captain Trenholme R. Edwards and Mrs. Edwards in Truro, N.S.

Mrs. R. W. Mayhew and her daughter, Miss Jean Mayhew, returned to Victoria a few days ago from Los Angeles, where they attended the wedding of Mr. Logan Mayhew and Miss Margaret Bucklin.

Mrs. K. Williams, Saanich Road, and Mrs. J. Cox, formerly of Port Alice, who have been visiting at Qualicum, returned to Victoria Saturday evening. Mrs. Cox is making her home indefinitely with Mrs. Williams.

Mrs. J. D. McKenzie, Saskatoon, and Mrs. W. E. Brownlee of Port Qu'Appelle, both of whom have been spending the week-end in Victoria as the guests of Mr. and Mrs. W. Purnell, North Quadra Street, left today for their homes.

Sir Ellsworth and Lady Flavell and their daughter, Mrs. Gage Love, arrived in Vancouver Saturday morning from Toronto, en route to Victoria, where they will visit Sub-Lieut. Gage Love and Sub-Lieut. David Flavell.

Mrs. John Galt of Victoria who has been spending some time in Ottawa, a guest at Chateau Laurier, will attend the closing exercises of Royal Military College, where her grandson, Gentleman Cadet John Martin of Victoria, will be one of the graduates.

Dr. and Mrs. Stuart Kenning, Dr. and Mrs. P. A. C. Cousland, and Doctors J. W. Lennox, W. T. Barrett, T. S. McPherson, E. W. Bonk, Hermann Robertson and A. B. Nash, all of whom have been attending the medical convention at Jasper, returned to Victoria Saturday evening.

Miss Honor Benson returned to her home on the Esplanade, Oak Bay, this afternoon after the absence of four months, during which she has been the guest of her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Robert Henwood, in Toronto. En route home she also spent a few days with her aunt, Mrs. H. A. Lowe, in Edmonton.

News came from Bellingham of the approaching marriage of Mrs. Marguerite Black Wheeler to Henry Edward Hooton of Victoria, B.C., formerly of Hull, England. The announcement was made at a dinner given recently at the Hotel Leopold by members of the Bellingham High School faculty. Mrs. Wheeler, a member of the school staff, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cisena of Bellingham, a pioneer family of Washington and British Columbia. The wedding will be in mid-July at "Deepdene," the home of Mr. Hooton's family at Oak Bay. Mrs. Wheeler is a member of the University of Washington chapter of Kappa Gamma sorority.

Loyalist Fete Adds $100 to Queen's Canadian Fund

Social and financial success attended the delightfully arranged garden party and bridge held at the home of Mrs. David Doig, the Uplands, on Saturday afternoon. The affair was arranged under the auspices of the United Empire Loyalists' Association and, as a result, the Queen's Canadian Fund will benefit to the extent of about $100.

Mr. James Forman, president of the association, formally opened the proceedings, explaining the objects of the beneficiary fund, and thanking the hostess for her generous hospitality. Mrs. Doig was assisted in receiving the guests by Mrs. G. Bjornsfelt and Mrs. H. D. Brumpton.

The garden was at the height of its early summer beauty and guests revelled in the riot of bloom which filled the borders. Tea was served in the summer house under the direction of Mrs. Ap'John Yardley and Mrs. Mul-lard, while those assisting in serving were Misses Dorothy Cross, Mary Carman, Queenie Tabor, Nita Hensley, Karen and Ingrid Bjornsfelt. Miss Yolande Lang-Hyde sold charming little boutonniers which were popular among the guests.

A musical program enhanced the pleasure of the guests, Miss Peggy Walton contributing a group of songs, with Miss Rita Newark at the piano; Mrs. E. C. Senkler and Mrs. R. W. Hanning-ton gave pianoforte selections, and Mr. P. Hughes played the quaint old harmonium, which was placed on exhibition by Mrs. Doig—and had been brought to this country from England during the gold rush of '98.

Eight tables of bridge and mah jong were in play in the house, and the players were entertained at tea by Mrs. Doig, Mrs. F. E. Winslow and Mrs. N. Ferris presiding at the table. Mrs. Edna McLeod and Mrs. A. Anderson were at the receipt of customs.

Pianoforte Recital

The final piano recital of the season was given at the studio of Marion MacGovern, Quadra Street, Saturday, by her pupils. Parents and friends were present to hear a varied program of piano class students, rhythm orchestra numbers, duets, trios and piano solos. Yvonne McCole, the little guest artist, sang several songs very sweetly. Joan Archer gave a tap dance.

Mrs. J. M. Thomas announced the numbers and also presented prizes to Marjorie Jones, Jean Robertson and Pat Thomas for the best piano solo work at the recitals. The accompanists were Mrs. Hole, Mrs. MacGovern and Marjorie Jones. Those taking part were: Joan Archer, Ann Robertson, Shirley Holland, Freddie Barry, Vera Williamson, Eleanor Fletcher, La Verne McCole, Doreen Evans, Gladys Wallace, Elaine Barry, Carol, Doris

TERRY-HOLLAND

The marriage of Eva Alberta, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Holland, 515 Wilson Street, and James W. Terry, R.C.N.V.R., son of Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Terry, 603 1st Street, New Westminster, took place Saturday at 8.30, at Victoria West United Church. Rev. Jackson performed the ceremony in a setting made attractive with baskets of blue and white summer flowers. Mr. Oliver Stout played the organ and the soloist was Miss Luise Leask, who sang "Because." Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore an afternoon frock of pale rose, a small veiled hat in matching shade and accessories in honey beige. Bridal roses and white heather formed her corsage. Her only attendant was Miss Amy Anderson, who chose a pastel blue afternoon dress, a matching veiled turban and white accessories. Her corsage was of pink carnations and pale blue delphiniums. Mr. L. Terry was best man and the ushers were Mr. George Beck and Mr. David Mowatt.

Following the ceremony, a reception took place at 516 Springfield Avenue. Mrs. Holland received in a two-piece pastel blue dress with navy and white hat trimmed with veiling and white accessories. Her corsage was of white carnations and sweet peas. Also welcoming the guests was Mrs. Terry, who chose a blue frock with wide-brimmed hat, navy accessories and a corsage of white carnations and sweet peas. Centring the lace-covered refreshment table was a three-tier wedding cake, while white tapers completed the appointments. Mr. A. Dunnett, an old friend of the bride's family, proposed the toast. For a wedding trip to the mainland the bride left in a rust-colored suit with beige accessories. On their return Mr. and Mrs. Terry will make their home at 888 Wollaston Street. Out-of-town guests were the Misses Phyllis Terry, Doris Terry, Florence Terry, Jessie Terry, Mr. L. Terry and Mrs. W. Chandler, all of Vancouver.

ORD-LOVELL

At a pretty ceremony at the home of the bride's mother, Mrs. C. W. Lovell, 2548 Lincoln Road, on Saturday evening, at 8.30, her only daughter, Audrey, became the bride of Second-Lieut. Alexander Harbison, Ord, R.C.O.C., eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. E. Ord, 1023 Wollaston Street, Esquimalt. Capt. G. H. Hamilton officiated and the "Lohengrin" Bridal Chorus was played by Mrs. W. J. Nelson Jr.

Sub-Lieut. William H. Lovell gave his sister in marriage. She wore a floor-length dress of seafoam blue net with taffeta bodice made high to the neck with a yoke of net, and full skirt appliqued with taffeta. Her chapel veil of seafoam net was attached to a coronet of sweet heart roses and pale blue sweet

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a princess gown of oyster white slipper satin, with long pointed sleeves, sweetheart neckline and slight train. Her only ornament was a diamond and sapphire brooch, an heirloom of the bridegroom's family. She wore a court veil of French tulle with orange blossoms, and her bouquet was of red roses and swansons.

Her bridesmaid, Miss Muriel Bonsall, wore a floor-length gown of blue sheer, inset with turquoise lace, and a hat in pink tulle, with turquoise big trimmings. Her bouquet was composed of pink carnations and delphiniums. Mr. Thomas Easton of Youbou was best man.

The reception was held at St. John's Hall, where the bride's table was covered with a drawn-work cloth which had been used at her mother's wedding, and centred with the three-tier wedding cake, with silver vases of sweet peas and tapers in silver and crystal candelabra. Mrs. Kennett received in a jacket dress of blue silk-crepe, navy blue hat and accessories. The toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. Winger Cook, Youbou.

peas, and she carried a bouquet of pink rosebuds, swansons and sweet peas, cascaded with sweet heart roses.

Miss Margaret McMartin, the bridesmaid, wore a period frock of cameo pink brocaded taffeta, with sweetheart neckline and a shoulder-length veil of pink net attached to a coronet of rosebuds. Her arm bouquet was of pale blue delphinium, pink carnations and swansons. Mr. Ernest Durrant supported the bridegroom.

Mrs. Lovell received the guests in a dusty rose redingote with navy blue accessories and a corsage bouquet of pink rosebuds and blue sweet peas, assisted by Mrs. Ord, wearing a navy blue crepe gown trimmed with beads, white accessories and a corsage bouquet of sweet peas. Mrs. J. E. Mann of White Rock, B.C., was among the guests. Refreshments were served from a lace-covered table with three-tiered wedding cake and lighted by white tapers in silver candelsticks. Summer flowers were used throughout the rooms.

Mr. and Mrs. Ord will make their home in Victoria after their honeymoon on the mainland, for which the bride donned a pale blue gabardine suit.

DOW-WILSON

The marriage of Barbara Sumner, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. T. S. Wilson, San Juan Avenue, Gordon Head, and Dale Eaton, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Dow, 1066 Roslyn Road, took place Friday evening at 8 in St. Luke's Church, Cedar Hill. Rev. Frederick Pike performed the ceremony and the church organist played the wedding music.

The bride, who was given away by her father, wore a frock of white dotted net, with bishop sleeves, sweetheart neckline, and a fingertip length veil. She wore a family heirloom necklace and carried a colonial bouquet of red roses and white carnations. The bridesmaid, Doris Mitchell, wore a dress of blue tulle, and a matching doll-hat. The bride's brother-in-law, Mr. Karl C. Young, supported the groom.

The young couple later welcomed their guests at the Parish Hall, which was decorated in pink and white. They were assisted by the bride's mother, Mrs. Wilson, dressed in figured rose and navy blue with navy and white accessories, and Mrs. Dow dressed in pale green with black accessories. Both wore corsage bouquets of pink carnations and rosebuds. A three-tier wedding cake, flanked by crystal vases with pink sweet peas, centred the supper table, which was covered by a hand-made lace tablecloth. The bride left for the honeymoon in a beige dressmaker-suit of Teka cloth, with a brown topcoat and brown accessories, and will make their home at 614 South G. Street, Tacoma, Washington.

LYNN-KENNETT

St. John's Church, Duncan, was the scene of a pretty wedding on Saturday evening when Queen Hilda, only daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Kennett, Duncan, became the bride of Ralph Thomas Lynn, Youbou, only son of the late Mr. and Mrs. J. Lynn, Vancouver. Rev. H. T. Archibald was the officiating clergyman, and Messrs. V. R. Kennett and R. McEwan were ushers. Miss Monk was at the organ and during the signing of the register Miss May Tombs sang "O Perfect Love." The church was beautifully decorated by the bride's fellow workers in the telephone office, under the direction of Mrs. Albert Colk, with delphiniums, snapdragons and peonies.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a princess gown of oyster white slipper satin, with long pointed sleeves, sweetheart neckline and slight train. Her only ornament was a diamond and sapphire brooch, an heirloom of the bridegroom's family. She wore a court veil of French tulle with orange blossoms, and her bouquet was of red roses and swansons.

Her bridesmaid, Miss Muriel Bonsall, wore a floor-length gown of blue sheer, inset with turquoise lace, and a hat in pink tulle, with turquoise big trimmings. Her bouquet was composed of pink carnations and delphiniums. Mr. Thomas Easton of Youbou was best man.

The reception was held at St. John's Hall, where the bride's table was covered with a drawn-work cloth which had been used at her mother's wedding, and centred with the three-tier wedding cake, with silver vases of sweet peas and tapers in silver and crystal candelabra. Mrs. Kennett received in a jacket dress of blue silk-crepe, navy blue hat and accessories. The toast to the bride was proposed by Mr. Winger Cook, Youbou.

For the honeymoon, the bride chose a suit of lemon yellow with white tulle trimmings, model hat in mist blue, with a short veil, navy accessories and imported top coat of British tweed in a blue plaid. Her going-away corsage was of Tailsman roses. On their return they will live at Youbou.

ARNOTT-DREW

At St. John's Church on Saturday evening, Rev. George Biddle solemnized the marriage of Beryl Margaret, third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Drew, 227 Menzies Street, to Mr. George Kenneth Arnott, younger son of Mr. G. H. Arnott, Copper Mountain, B.C., and Mrs. Arnott, Vancouver. Pink and blue flowers were used in decoration of the church, with colonial bouquets of pink rosebuds on the guest pews. Mr. Ian Galliford played the wedding music.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her father, wore a floor-length gown of ivory satin, with sweetheart neckline and long sleeves, her fingertip veil of net falling from a posy of pink rosebuds and orange blossoms which had been worn by her mother. She carried a bouquet of white sweet peas and pink roses. Miss Evelyn Drew in seafoam blue, and Miss Vera Drew in rose pink, were bridesmaids for their sister. Their floor-length gowns were fashioned alike of chiffon, and both wore hats of net to match their gowns, trimmed with contrasting flowers, and carried bouquets of pink carnations and blue delphinium, tied with ribbons to match their gowns. Mr. Robert Sharples was groomsmen, and Messrs. Russell Arnott, brother of the groom, and Hugh Aikens, all of Vancouver, were ushers.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur T. Tindle, Muriel and Philip Tindle, and Miss Eileen Grimwood, all of Vancouver, were among the guests welcomed at the reception held at the home of the bride's parents. Pink and blue flowers were used in decorations of the rooms and of the bride's table, with its three-tiered wedding cake.

Mrs. Drew welcomed the guests in a frock of embossed sheer in cornflower blue, with matching straw hat trimmed with pink rosebuds, and wore gardenias and sweetheart roses. Assisting her was Mrs. Arnott in a Suez rose crepe gown, with beaded jacket, hat of navy blue straw with pink rosebuds, and an orchid corsage.

For the honeymoon in the interior of the province, the bride donned a robin's egg blue ensemble with parchment-beige accessories. The young couple will make their home at 406 Menzies Street.

HILL-VAN PUYENBROECK

On June 15, the marriage took place at the home of the bride's parents, by Rev. W. Arnold Bennett, of Harry John Hill, only son of Mrs. Millie Anderson, 3223 Findlay Street, Vancouver, and the late Harry Elijah Hill, to Dorothy Alice, youngest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Van Puyenbroeck, 518 Maple Street, Vancouver.

FREESON KERMODE

At a quiet ceremony on Thursday, June 18, Pte. Margaret Kermode of the C.W.A.C., daughter of Mr. Francis Kermode, and the late Mrs. Kermode, was united in marriage to James L. Freeson, R.C.O.C. Mrs. Phyllis Cann and Mr. Alec Wensrick attended the bride and groom. After a trip to the mainland the happy couple will return to Victoria to live.

Juvenile Daughters of England, Princess Margaret Rose Lodge, will meet at 6.30 Wednesday in S.O.E. Hall. After meeting bingo will be played.

Mary Croft Chapter of Esquimalt I.O.D.E. will hold a special meeting Thursday afternoon at 2.30 at the home of Mrs. C. Bishop, 1124 Greenwood Avenue.

A silver tea will be held at the home of Mrs. A. R. Harness, 1716 Hampshire Road, Thursday afternoon from 3 to 5 in aid of the Victoria Women's Institute.

Victoria Lodge, No. 83, Daughters of St. George, met recently in the S.O.E. Hall, Mrs. W. F. E. Lomas, presiding. The president then welcomed Mrs. Graham from a sister lodge and also several members who have been absent for some time. The garden party will be held at the home of Mrs. Lomas, 3217 Wicklaw Street, Thursday from 2 to 5. In the evening, cards will be played. Memorial Day was set for Sunday, June 21. After the meeting cards and dance were held, when 35 R.A.F. men were guests of the lodge. Mrs. Williams and Mrs. Gaiger were in charge. Officers and drill team are asked to attend a practice on Monday, June 29, at 2.30 in the hall. The next business meeting will be held on July 1 at 8.

The president, Mrs. C. Cye, assisted by Miss Milne, received the guests at the garden party held at the latter's home, Portage Road, under the auspices of St. Columba W.A. The stalls were well patronized, with the result that $53 was realized. Tea was served by Mesdames Burrow, Partridge and Rayner, Misses

Letters to Editor

Correspondents are reminded to use one side of the paper only, to write legibly, and to keep their communications within a reasonable length. A short letter, with a point convincingly emphasized, has a better chance of publication than one with labored platitudes.

A.R.P. IN FERNWOOD DISTRICT

May I be allowed through the columns of your paper to express my sincere thanks to all branches of the A.R.P. services for their valuable co-operation in the practice on Wednesday night.

It has been very pleasing to have received such loyal and enthusiastic support from all the wardens, and it is gratifying to know that the efforts put forth were so successful.

FOUR QUESTIONS

How fortunate the citizens of this country will be!

They are to have the privilege of persons of super-intelligence to explain to them the mystery of the government's system of sugar-rationing!

We (i.e., the ordinary citizen) would be much happier if the teachers would explain the reason for the following:

1. Why some thousands of the Japanese (admittedly good workers) are to remain idle while fruit farmers and agriculturists generally are suffering from lack of workers to save the much-needed crops?

2. Why, when the ordinary citizen's use of sugar is drastically curtailed, the breweries of Canada are not rationed in use of sugar?

3. Why a total of over 11 million pounds of sugar was used by distillers and brewers (according to Canada Year Book of 1941), while the housewife is deprived of sufficient sugar to preserve the fruit which she has taken the trouble to grow?

4. Why shipping space has been used for sending spirituous liquors from Canada to Libya when the armed forces there are suffering from lack of armaments?

If these and other queries could be satisfactorily answered, it would set free our limited brain power to wrestle with the rationing system.

MRS. G. OWENS,
R.R. Cowichan Station.

FOR THE OPEN MIND

A cheer for Mr. John McDermott and his thoughts on the "open mind" attitude toward every idea, good or bad.

Those who have an open mind to everything don't know anything. They only see and think, and their thought perish. Choice and discrimination are the first functions of intelligence, and decision is the prerequisite of action. The people who accomplish anything in life are the people of decision. Those who can't make up their minds which way to move get nowhere. And those who move with uncertain steps are easily overcome.

We discriminate in the food we take into our bodies. Why should we feed our minds with what is poisonous or useless?

"It is better that a bear bereft of her whelps meet a man rather than a fool in his folly."

"Keep thine heart with all diligence, for out of it are the issues of life."

"As a man thinketh in his heart, so is he."

There may always be some things about which we cannot make up our minds. But that is our limitation. Not a thing to boast of. Generally we can reject evil and accept the good.

The open mind idea originated in Germany, and her philosophers used it to upset all codes of right and wrong. In the confusion of thought that followed was Hitler's chance to fill the people's minds with stories and suspicious hard materialism and poison theory.

This is not in defence of bigotry and intolerance, but only against the deliberate practice of keeping an open mind towards everything, however evil, until we deny the reality of good and evil. We can respect the honest convictions of all good people, but we must follow our own. There was nothing incoherent about Mr. McDermott's letter. Good luck to him in his conviction that there are some ideas against which our minds should be closed and barred.

ECONOMIC TRIBULATION

I see that the Banking Fraternity has a conference at Victoria.

I just got a copy of "Economic Tribulation," new off the press, written by V. C. Vickers of Vickers Ltd., and a former governor of the Bank of England, 1910-1919, shortly before his death in 1939 and arranged for printing by his daughter.

This book should interest those of that banking fraternity who are "not absolutely dyed-in-the-wool orthodox financiers," as it will interest every intelligent man and woman. Perhaps not because it tells anything much new, but on account of the person who says it!

If one of those bankers had had enough vision to provide me—and thousands of others in similar circumstances—with sufficient long-term credit for the purpose, I might have—this spring alone—produced five to 10 times as many future producers of eggs and poultry—meat, so necessary for an all-out war effort, than I have been able to do now with primitive equipment and what help members of my family can give me.

There is a much greater demand for such producers in numbers of half a dozen or one or a few dozen than I and other breeders can supply; and in the hands of thousands of householders all over the country, such hens can produce more economically than when kept by the thousands on one farm; even in these times, every household has kitchen-scrap, etc., which go now to the garbage-can, which scraps would help in feeding those hens.

And at the same time, I might then have been in a position to provide every one of these banking conferees with a copy of Vickers' book. As it is, they will have to pay $1 (Am.) for a copy to Free-Economy Publishing Co., San Antonio, Texas, U.S.A.

I wonder if any of those bankers has thought of asking Colin Cameron, M.L.A., to come and repeat for them the talk he gave Monday, May 18 last in the Chamber of Commerce to urge support for the "conscription of wealth and industry." That would be an eyeopener to many of them, undoubtedly. They—those bankers—will have to face the new world that is a building in minds and hearts all over this planet, just as we, the common people, will have to, even if the birth-pangs of that new world are going to be terrific!

NATURE AND ANTIDOTES

A natural law dictates that near an evil an antidote is found.

Our forest trees' bark contains great quantities of tannic acid. This is one of the most powerful fire extinguishers.

Another natural law—where there is a need Nature supplies it.

From the press I see that there is need of cork substitute, and that from the bark of these trees a substitute for cork can be made. Cannot the tannic acid be extracted, leaving the cork substitute?

Also from the press I see that there is still unemployment. Cannot the vast powers that government now has combine to benefit and bring safety to men and our forests?

Wool Mending</

Sports Mirror

By JIM KEARNEY

The sharp cracks of niblick shot, the penetrating voices of concession operators and the music of a swing and will blend into a symphony of noise on the nights of July 1, 2, 3 and 4, and out of it something between $3,000 and $4,000 will be collected and turned over to the Queen Alexandra Solarium.

Yes sir, it's the return of the annual Gyro Club Hole-In-One Competition, "biggah and bettah" than ever before as the circus barker might say. It will be the third annual Solarium benefit, and according to one of the members of the committee, Louis Glazan, this year's show is just a step in what will eventually become Victoria's yearly Mardi Gras.

The first hole-in-one competition was held at Macdonald Park in 1940. That year it was just plain golf, and despite the lack of side attractions to entice those who did not play the game, it proved a great success and the Solarium was the winner.

Last year the show was moved to the Central Junior High School grounds, permission being granted by the school board after negotiations that lasted almost two weeks.

To it were added games and concessions, and the money garnered was tossed into the general golf pot. A few persons won at the golf and on the roulette wheels, many more lost. But that wasn't the point—the crux of the matter was that the Solarium won—to the tune of over $2,000.

This year the competition is again being held at the Central Junior High School grounds. The golf will be back, the croupiers will be in their stalls looking for your business—and a big floor will be laid out on the football field, a swing band will give out with its hottest licks and the hole-in-one contest will have its first jinx dance.

There will be dancing each night of the four night shows, and on Wednesday (the opening day) and Saturday (the wind-up day) afternoons.

First prize in the golf contest will be $100 in War Savings certificates. This will go to the person who gets nearest, or in the hole in the shoot-off Saturday night. To qualify the competitors must hole the ball out sometime during the first three days. For each dodo in the preliminary play the contestant gets $10 in War Savings certificates. There will also be daily first and second prizes for the "just about ins," as well as a dozen tombola prizes each day.

The hole is about 90 yards away from the tee. It's just an ordinary 7 or 8 iron shot, or for the pith and run artists, a strong putt.

At last year's contest Major W. C. Holmes promised his son, Phillip, he would buy him that new motorcycle he wanted so badly if he holed the ball out. Phillip went up on the tee and the major smiled at the hard bargain he had driven—for a few fleeting seconds. Phillip did hole the ball, on his first shot, too.

So, you see, it's easy, just like that.

This year the Gyros want to raise $4,000 for the Mill Bay institution. No words in this column can tell you what the Solarium does for crippled children in rehabilitating them and sending them into life as physically sound as the healthy kids you see playing in the parks about town every day.

And the Solarium needs your help. Sure, it gets a government grant, but that isn't enough to give these unfortunate kiddies all the attention and medical aid needed to rebuild them. That's why the Gyros sponsor this annual show.

At present it's the biggest single benefit show in the city, for the Solarium and the service club that's putting it, money and work into it, can make it so big nothing else in the city will be able to touch it—with your help.

Wins America Golf

Hogan 17 Under Par

CHICAGO (AP)—Tina Ben Hogan, Hershey, Pa., pro, never before winner of a major golf tournament, crashed to a dramatic victory in the Hale America United States Open Sunday with a 72-hole total of 271, 17 under par for the distance. Hogan finished three strokes ahead of challenging Jimmy Demaret of Detroit and Mike Turnesa, White Plains, N.Y., who tied for second with 274.

The 29-year-old Texan, starting the final 18-hole round tied with Turnesa at 203, stood off Demaret's late challenge by playing steady, superb golf. Demaret led Hogan by two strokes at the end of 68 holes, but Hogan, refusing to blow up under pressure, picked up five strokes on the next four holes to triumph.

Hogan clinched his game by sinking a 25-foot putt for a birdie two on the 18th.

The country's leading money winner for the last three years, Hogan won $1,000 Sunday and increased his earnings for 1942 to $11,248. Turnesa and Demaret split second and third place money totaling $1,500.

There was a three-way tie for fourth-place honors involving the veteran Horton Smith of Pinehurst, N.C., Jimmy Thomson of Delmonte, Calif., and Byron Nelson of Toledo, O. Each had 278. Lawson Little of Monterey, Calif., the 1940 open champion and former United States and British amateur champion, tied with Eddie Burne of Hamden, Conn., at 280.

Toronto's Bobby Gray finished far behind the leaders with 300. He added a 71 today to his 54-hole total of 229. Gordon Brydon, also of Toronto, carded a 78 today for a 304 total.

Hogan, who could not equal par the first day when most of the other players were burning up Ridgemoor with sub-par golf, blasted the course record Friday with a 62, lowest score ever made in a major tournament.

Sunday Hogan collected five birdies, 12 pars and a bogey in his final 18-hole round which he played with Capt. Robert T. Jones of Atlanta, Ga., and Denny Shute of Chicago.

Jones, the grand slam champion of 1930 when he won the British and American open and amateur tournaments, shot a 36-37—73 today to complete the tournament in 290, two strokes over par.

Craig Wood, the 1941 open champion, of Mamaroneck, N.Y., scored a 36-36—72 today to wind up with 283, tying him with Sam Byrd of Ardmore, Pa., and Harold McSpaden of Philadelphia for 12th place.

R.A.F. and Army Win Cricket

The R.A.F. eleven went to the top of the Victoria and District Cricket League, Saturday afternoon, easily beating Albions by 55 runs and three wickets. In the other game of the day Army met little trouble in downing Navy, 119 to 33.

Albions had bolstered with two Australians, Saunders and Tuxford, but were still no match for the British fliers. They were all out in an hour with only 34 runs. The bowling of Beach and Thorne was their undoing and at one stage of the game they took seven consecutive wickets for only 14 runs. Albions' final total was 34.

R.A.F. soon passed the Albion total, Wildmore and Green, the first two batters, getting 45 runs between them. When the fliers reached 89 time was called.

Harper and Cunliffe lead the batting parade with 36 and 20 runs respectively. Army ran into few obstacles in sinking the Navy. Army bowlers went through the Navy line-up without allowing one sailor batter to get into double figures.

GAMLIN WINS C.P.R. TITLE

Noel Gamlin and M. Rice-Jones won men's and women's finals in the C.P.R. club tennis championship Sunday, defeating J. Moon and B. Martin respectively by identical scores of 6-2, 6-1.

In the men's doubles final Ivan Temple and Jack Wilkinson teamed to beat Moon and Gamlin-

Break Baseball Tie Tonight

Tied for third place in local baseball's senior pennant race, Pitzer and Nex and R.C.A.F. will play at Athletic Park tonight just to decide who's going to hold that spot. Umpire Tommy Restall will call the meeting to order at 6.30.

Just a few days ago Pitzer and Nex put the kibosh on Eagles to break that third place tie with the airmen, but the fliers bombed the Army Saturday afternoon to climb right up with the gashouse lads again.

It should be one of the closest games of the season. Neither team has given any indication who will be pitching.

R.C.A.F. WINS

That bombing given to the soldiers by their flying comrades was a close one. They went down 4 to 2, but not until air force second baseman Larry Sherman lifted the ball over the centre-field fence in the 10th inning.

The air force took a two-run lead in the second inning and held it until the fifth when the troops got a lone run in. In the first of the ninth Army got the tying marker when Janitos, pinch-hitting for Bailey, singled to right field.

Air force did the dirty deed in the last of the 10th and that was the ball game. Gerry Whitney, Army pitcher, allowed six hits and fanned 11. Percy Switch, moundsman for the fliers, gave five hits and fanned six.

NAVY BEATS V.M.D.

In the evening game of Saturday's double header, Navy climbed to within one game of the league-leading V.M.D. team with a 5 to 2 victory over the shipyard workers.

They knocked home three runs in the first five innings. Although V.M.D. pitcher Ronnie France, gave up only two base hits in the first four frames, he had trouble finding the plate and was chased to the showers.

Eric Smythe took over where he left off, letting the Navy down with five hits and two more runs. Jack McIntyre, a left hander with plenty of stuff pitched heads-up ball the whole distance for the bluejackets. He allowed only three hits and had complete control except for a spell of wildness in the eighth when V.M.D. scored both their runs.

Short scores of both games follow:

	R.	H.	E.
Army	2	5	1
Navy	5	2	0
R.C.A.F.	4	6	2
R.C.N.	5	7	3
V.M.D.	2	3	4

Don't be the missing man.

These Boys Are Fast

Hal Davis, California, in front, and Barney Elwell, Penn State, trailing by a step, who met in the 100 and 200 metres in the United States A.A.U. track and field championships at New York last week.

Win Boxla 21 to 15

United Services credited their 21 to 15 lacrosse win over the Oaks Saturday night, to the fact that the boys on the team have at last struck up an acquaintanceship with each other and realize that passing the ball and giving assists is just as important as scoring goals.

The fact still remains, however, that Services stepped on Oaks, 21 to 16, and that both these factors figured in their win. They played their best game of the season, Ryan did rise to spectacular heights when called on to do so, and Oakland found the weight and experience of their opponents a little too much.

In the first quarter Services started off true to their usual form, almost pure individualism. Despite this, they took a 4 to 3 lead. Oakland played much the same way and got all three of their goals unassisted.

In the second canto, however, both teams sped up and slung the ball liberally. They played the corners well despite the confines of what is reputed to be the country's smallest box. Both scored four times. Score at half-time was 8 to 7, and it was still anyone's game.

Something went wrong with the Oakland machinery at the beginning of the third quarter, however. Some called it ennui, but whatever it was, Services took full advantage of it and scored five goals. In the first six minutes without a reply. That little spurge put Bob McInnes' boys out of the game. Further on in the period, Services stretched their lead to 14 to 7, before Wally Williams squeezed his way along the boards with five minutes to go and scored.

After that Oakland matched the servicemen goal for goal, but it was too little and too late. Services outshot the Oaks in every quarter and might have been much further in front had it not been for little Jimmie Taylor in the losers' citadel. In the last half he was sensational and every shot that got past him deserved to be in the net. He stopped 39.

Jimmie Ryan played his best game of the season to stop 33 shots. Oakland got in on him time after time, but jumping James came up with legs and arms gyrating in every direction to outguess the young sharpshooters on most of his shots.

Jackie James, the mighty mite who learned much about the game with Richmond Farmers, drifted insignificantly in front of the Oakland's goal most of the whole game to score seven goals. Hall and Earl McDonald, with three apiece, trailed him.

Duff McCaghey was Oaks' high scorer with a goal in each of the four quarters. Wally Williams, playing his best and hardest game of the season, flashed some of his form of two years ago to score three.

Oaklands drew down 21 minutes in penalties, while Services' players stayed in the box for a total of 17 minutes.

Brynjolfsson and Brown refereed. Line-ups and scores follow:

United Services—Ryan, McDonald 3, Carney, James 7, Andrews 1, Wallace 1, Bray, Minns 1, Temple 1, Mayo 2, Urquhart, Proctor, Hall 3, Gallicano 2.

Oaklands—Taylor, Prior 1, Ranson 1, Watson, Penketh, Michelin, McCaghey 4, Bishop 1, Turnquist, 1, Popham 1, Lea 2, Lott, Rhodes 2, Williams 3.

George Gunniss of the Times composing room won the annual Graphic Arts Golf Tournament at the Colwood course, Sunday, his net 65 giving him the Norman F. Hall trophy until this time next year. W. Oakley tied with him, but George won the toss that decided who would have this year's honor.

Seventy-seven took part in the golf and 100 attended the banquet, held in the evening at the club house. C. F. Banfield was chairman of the banquet, Lorne D. Graham presented the prizes, Cleaver Wilson arranged the entertainment and Fred Pitt was accompanist.

There were 20 players over from Vancouver.

St. Louis Splits Pair, Ends Disastrous Series

Cards Lose 4 Out of 5 To Brooklyn

By Associated Press

Sadder but wiser, the St. Louis Cardinals limped toward Boston today, able to rejoice in only two things—the departure from Brooklyn and the discovery of one pitcher who can fool the devastating Dodgers.

When the Cards invaded Flatbush last week they were riding on a seven-game winning streak and trailing the National League leaders by only four games and a half, but they bumped into a Brooklyn team that apparently is serious about representing the circuit in the World Series once more.

The Dodgers slapped the Cardinals down four times out of five, pushing them three full games further behind.

For the Cards, the only bright spot of their visit was provided by Mort Cooper, their pitching ace, who might keep his club in the pennant struggle if he could do all the hurling whenever the two teams meet.

COOPER STOPS CHAMPS

Cooper handcuffed the league champs on five hits in the first game of Sunday's doubleheader, while his mates hopped on three Dodger pitchers for 14 safeties, including home runs by Ray Sanders and Stan Musial, to compile an 11 to 0 shutout.

But the second game was the same old story again. Kirby Higbe pitched seven-hit ball for the Dodgers, who bunched their blows off Howard Pollock for a 2 to 0 decision. Joe Medwick connected safely in both games, stretching his consecutive game hitting streak to 25.

Tex Hughson of the Boston Red Sox tossed a neat three-hitter, Cliff Melton pitched a four-hitter for the New York Giants and Hank Borowy of the New York Yanks turned in a five-hit job—all shutouts. Luman Harris of the Philadelphia Athletics and Ray Starr of the Cincinnati Reds also had five-hitters, but both yielded runs.

LYONS WINS 250TH GAME

Ted Lyons of the Chicago White Sox became the second active pitcher to win 250 games, joining Red Ruffing of the Yanks, who reached that goal only two weeks ago. Only 18 other hurlers ever have won that many games, and only 10 have done it since the turn of the century.

Melton pitched the Giants to a 5 to 0 triumph over the Chicago Cubs in the first game Sunday, but the Cubs took the nightcap 7 to 2, as Stan Hack hit a two-run homer and pinch-hitter Dom Dilessandro smashed a four-bagger with the bases loaded.

The Cincinnati Reds and the Philadelphia Phils split, the Phils winning first 3 to 2 behind six-hit pitching by Tommy Hughes, and the Reds rallying behind Starr to square accounts 2 to 1.

Pinch-hitter Eddie Stewart tripled in the 10th inning with the bases loaded to give the Pittsburgh Pirates a 7 to 3 decision over Boston Braves. Their second game bowed to the weather.

YANKS SPLIT TWO

The Cleveland Indians handed the New York Yankees their fifth straight loss 3 to 2, but Borowy led the world champions out of the wilderness with a 4 to 0 shutout in the nightcap, preserving that seven-game lead.

Lyons pitched the White Sox to a 6 to 5 win over the Boston Red Sox in the first game, but Hughson evened it up in the second, which Boston won 7 to 8.

Detroit and Al Benton beat Washington and Buck Newsom 4 to 1 in the top half of their twin bill, only to lose the 10-inning nightcap to the Senators 3 to 2 when Virgil Trucks, Tiger reliever, walked a man with the bases loaded.

The Philadelphia Athletics took both games from the St. Louis Browns, 4 to 2 and 4 to 3, with Bob Johnson supplying most of the batting punch.

COAST LEAGUE

Sacramento Solons increased their Pacific Coast Baseball League lead to 2½ games this week-end with a triple whacking administered Portland and there by nullified the effect of a double win by Los Angeles.

Both teams made 12 hits in Sunday's opener, but Portland left 11 men stranded on the bases, and that cost the Beavers a 6 to 2 trimming.

All scoring came in the first inning of the 2 to 1 after-piece, Bill Schmidt of Sacramento and Walt Schubel of Portland matching goose eggs from there on. A 5 to 2 decision Saturday helped make it a 5 to 2 series for the Senators, their eighth in a row.

Likewise 5 to 2 winners for the week were Oakland Acons, who took five straight from Hollywood after a halting start, culminating the drive with 12 to 5 victories Sunday; the second in eight innings. Saturday it was 8 to 1 for the Acons.

SEATTLE SPLITS PAIR

Seattle and San Diego split their Sunday twin bill, the North-erners winning the first game, 3 to 2, when Boots Poffenberger, after outpitching Dick Barrett six hits to seven, weakened in the 10th inning to issue three bases on balls. San Diego's 2 to 1 riposte was largely due to four Seattle errors and was a hard defeat for Carl Fisher, who allowed only three hits. The Padres also won in 13 innings Saturday, 8 to 6, but lost the series, four games to three.

Traditionalists and San Francisco baseball rooters could unite in mutual gloom today, for two established practices have gone into the Coast League aspartan to the detriment of the bay city team.

One junked custom belonged to the Los Angeles Angels. They had lost three straight double-headers, but Sunday, instead of losing, they won both games, beating San Francisco 8 to 4 and 2 to 1.

The two-way victory, stretching Los Angeles' winning streak to four games, interfered with a San Francisco habit. The Seals had won their five preceding series, but this time it was the Angels' turn, 5 to 3.

This activity, interesting as it was to the points concerned, had only secondary effect on the pennant question, which Sacramento made less pressing by whacking Portland three times over the week-end for a 2½-game lead.

This week Portland and Seattle, continuing at home, exchange opponents. Neighborhood squabbles put Oakland at San Francisco and Hollywood at Los Angeles. Play will begin Tuesday night.

Valdina Orphan Beats Shut Out

NEW YORK (AP)—The three-year-old racing situation became badly scrambled again Saturday when Shut Out was soundly beaten in the Dwyer Stakes by the Texas-flier, Valdina Orphan, in one of the fastest 1¼ mile races ever run.

Victor over Alaab in the Kentucky Derby and Belmont Stakes, and generally conceded to have a stranglehold on the championship of the three-year-olds, Mrs. Payne Whitney's chocolate colt came from last place to run second—but he could not catch Jameson Woodward's high-speed galloper over Aqueduct's lightning-fast layout.

With a crowd of 23,833 looking on in amazement after backing the son of Equipoise down to 13 to 20 in the betting, "The Orphan" led from end to end under Jockey Carroll Bierman's blistering ride to hit the wire

SHEMP HOWARD, left, Richard Lane and Brod Crawford portray typical Damon Runyon characters in Universal's screen version of the Runyon short story, "Butch Minds the Baby," now at the Oak Bay and Plaza Theatres.

'One Foot in Heaven' Showing at Atlas

Entertainment in every sense of the word is what Atlas Theatre patrons will find today when they see the showing of Warner Bros. latest film, "One Foot in Heaven."

It tells the story of a family and his typical American family. Typical, in that they laugh at the same things, share the same joys and sorrows, and have the same problems as any family, anywhere in the United States. It is a quaint, nostalgic tale containing much wry humor, with the average Midwestern small town for its background. It opens in those gay days just after the turn of the century and continues through the riotous days after the Armistice of World War I.

Robert Donat Stars In Lovable Role

Following his success in "The Citadel," Robert Donat again returns to the screen, this time as the lovable schoolmaster of "Goodbye, Mr. Chips," filmization of James Hilton's famous novel. The Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture, filmed in England, comes today to the York Theatre.

With Donat comes a colorful new feminine lead in Greer Garson, beautiful English actress, recently signed by the studio. Terry Kilburn, boy discovery of "Lord Jeff" and "A Christmas Carol," plays an important juvenile role, and Sam Wood, who filmed "Navy Blue and Gold," "Lord Jeff" and other hits, directed.

The story, with a romantic love theme, has a new angle in the glorification of the work and influence of the profession of teaching.

Sonja at Cadet With Strong Cast

The new entertainment triumph from 20th Century-Fox, "Sun Valley Serenade," starring Sonja Henie and John Payne is at the Cadet Theatre.

With a featured cast headed by the nation's number one band, Glenn Miller and his orchestra, and including Milton Berle, Lynn Bari, Joan Davis and the Nichols Brothers, this new musical shows Sonja in spectacular new skating numbers and breathtaking sking routines. Mack Gordon and Harry Warren wrote seven new hit-tunes especially for this production.

Don't be the missing man.

Thrilling Sea Story Showing at Rio

An exciting and suspenseful film drama called "Torpedo Raider" produced with a capable cast by G.B. Pictures and released by Monogram, opened at the Rio Theatre today. The story was taken from the best-selling novel by C. S. Forester and has for its theme the daring and heroism of a young lad who has been brought up to carry on his heritage—devotion to the ideals and traditions of the Royal Navy.

The story, which closely parallels the recent Graf Spee incident at Montevideo, tells of the bottling in a neutral harbor of a German battleship and the final victory of the British. The picture is distinguished by superb photography, particularly the scenes in which the battle rages and the huge German ship finally sinks. An able cast gives fine dramatic acting.

Election Was Held For Ugliest Man

One of the most unusual elections ever staged in Hollywood took place on the lot at Universal studios during the filming of "Butch Minds the Baby," a Damon Runyon production now playing at Oak Bay and Plaza Theatres. It was to choose the ugliest man in Hollywood, and the "honor" was accorded Shemp Howard, who plays the part of "Blinky" in the picture.

Judges in the contest were Virginia Bruce, Priscilla Lane, Anne Gwynne and Carol Bruce, who concocted the idea. They were visiting the set when a mob of Broadway "mugs" were assembled to welcome their pal "Butch," portrayed by Brod Crawford, who was being released from serving a stretch in Sing Sing.

For this scene, the Universal casting office had scoured Hollywood for "rugged" character types, and the round-up netted about 50 former prize-fighters, tough guys, mugs and individuals who would never have a chance in a male beauty contest.

Tom Kennedy and Frank Moran, both of whom sport cauliflower ears as a result of years in the prize ring, were placed second and third to Howard, who won his first place on strictly natural points.

Air seeps through the pores in your inner tube at the rate of about two pounds a week. Reinflation every seven days therefore is recommended.

Some motorists are budgeting their rubber. They estimate how many miles remain in the tires, then attempt to prorrate this over a year, or two years.

Capitol Holds Over 'My Gal Sal'

When Rita Hayworth grabs scissors in 20th Century-Fox's Technicolor production, "My Gal Sal" at the Capitol Theatre, and shear the legs from a dozen pairs of Victor Mature's trousers—they are really Mature's trousers she is mutilating.

The studio could have bought prop suits for the purpose, but Mature had other ideas. He made a stirring appeal for reality. Also, on the colorful set of the gay '90's were a pair of sofas and an antique chair he coveted.

The studio steadily refused to sell them to him. So he made them a proposition. A dozen of his old suits for the furniture.

It happens that 20th Century-Fox has the largest storehouse of fine furniture in the industry and rarely parts with any of it. But when Miss Hayworth added her plea and Mature agreed to let the studio use the furniture if they should need it again, the deal was set.

The scene in which Miss Hayworth runs berserk through Mature's wardrobe occurs after Mature, in his role of Paul Dresser, composer and musical comedy star, buys a dozen new suits—to impress another girl.

'Whispering Ghosts' At the Dominion

Animal lover that she is, Brenda Joyce balked recently when called upon to play a scene in 20th Century-Fox's "Whispering Ghosts" which will open at the Dominion Theatre tomorrow.

Director Alfred Werker in order to add to the eerie atmosphere aboard a mystery ship had hired a friendly but formidable-looking rat, which was supposed to brush against Brenda's shapely ankle.

Brenda, who is usually not too squeamish about things, drew the line when the rodent made his appearance.

After Director Werker had assured Brenda that the animal had worked in 700 pictures without any trouble, Brenda relented a little. At the first two rehearsals, Brenda let out two blood-curdling shrieks.

Chess Tournament

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (CP)—Abe Yanofsky of Winnipeg, playing against Jeremiah J. Donovan of Brooklyn, N.Y., in the second round of the invitation chess master tournament here, scored his second victory Sunday and at the close of the day's play was leading the field of 10 with a score of 2 to 0.

Yanofsky, Dominion champion, gained an advantage on the 17th move and Donovan resigned after 23. Yanofsky in Saturday's first round defeated Louis R. Chauvenet of Esmond, Va., the southern champion, in 30 moves.

Sidney Bernstein of Brooklyn took second place with a score of 1½ by defeating Louis Levy.

40 Officers Here Discuss Wartime Conditions

Forty delegates to the annual business meeting and election of officers of the Pacific Coast International Association of Law Enforcement Officials, buckled down to questions of maintaining internal peace and order in nations at war as the two-day meeting opened at the Empress Hotel this morning.

The association is concerned with co-ordinating law enforcement in the 12 most western U.S. States, Mexico, Alaska, Hawaii, British Columbia and Alberta.

Attending the sessions are 25 U.S. representatives, mainly from Washington and Oregon, and 15 delegates from British Columbia. Business sessions this morning were called to order by Carl C. Donagh, U.S. district attorney for Portland, and past president of the association of law enforcement officials. He is the official representative of Miguel Z. Martinez of Mexico, president of the association.

At a noon luncheon today the association heard Hon. R. L. Maitland, K.C., Attorney-General for B.C.

The function of the association is to co-ordinate policing and police efforts of the Pacific coast, an area of approximately 3,000,000 square miles and 10,000 miles of coast line. The association works in close co-operation with the navy, army and air forces of the three countries.

SABOTAGE, ESPIONAGE

Mr. Donagh, in an interview, said the specific purpose of the meeting was for law enforcement officials of the three countries to pool their knowledge for prevention of sabotage and espionage on the coast.

He said the work was all the more vital during war time of course, and saboteurs and foreign agents move more quickly during war. He emphasized that international co-operation was necessary to curb such activities.

Delegates to the meet include John P. Duggan, assistant chief of police for Butte, Montana; Harry M. Niles, chief of police, Portland; Donald Mackay, chief constable for Vancouver, B.C.; John E. Turrish, U.S. guard, Vancouver, Wash.; H. B. Fay, detective lieutenant, Seattle; Thomas McGrandie, U.S. guard, Vancouver, Wash.; J. Douglas Severson, special agent in charge, F.B.I., Portland; John D. Hillmick, patrolman, police department, Portland; Martin F. Pratt, sheriff, Portland; Howard Fletcher, special agent, F.B.I., Seattle; Allen Birch, sheriff, Tillamook, Ore.; and Clyde O. Niles, social agent, Union Pacific Railway, Portland.

T. W. S. Parsons, commissioner, represents the B.C. Police.

Barbara Hope was taken to the Jubilee Hospital Sunday evening following an accident on Oak Bay Avenue, when the bicycle she was riding was struck by a car traveling in the same direction by Lt. Col. Roland Bourke. Suffering minor back injuries, she was reported in good condition today.

S. Zachs, Classic Cleaners and Dyers, pleaded guilty today to operating without a trades license. He was fined $15 and costs.

Remanded from Friday for stealing an automobile belonging to Wilson & Cabellu June 17, Jesse Sanford was sentenced to serve one year, in police court today.

The City Welfare Department is appealing for the loan of a small Singer sewing machine for use by an invalid woman with a family. Clothes in the larger sizes are also urgently needed for a number of men and women who are unable to work, owing to age and physical handicaps. Anyone having such articles is kindly requested to telephone G8104, when arrangements will be made for their collection if necessary.

The action of the National Construction and Fixture Co. Ltd. for $341 allegedly due for extras entailed in improvement of the Olympia Cafe, 752 Yates Street, for Peter and Thomas Rapanos, was dismissed as was the counterclaim for damages in a County Court judgment handed down by Judge H. H. Shandley last week. The plaintiff company was instructed to pay $70 sales tax on material and equipment installed.

Promotion of Sergt. Earl R. McIver to the grade of technical sergeant has been announced by Col. Byron T. Burt, commanding officer of Geiger Field, Washington. Technical Sergt. McIver is the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Knight of 1410 Harrison Street, Victoria. He entered the service in March, 1939, and at present is a chief clerk. The promotion is a recognition of his qualities of leadership, initiative and ability.

Two Way Radio Due Here July

Equipment needed for Victoria's two-way radio system for police, fire and civilian defence needs may be delivered in Montreal on July 15, according to word received by the city today from K. G. Chisholm of the engineering products sales department of the R.C.A. Victor Co. Ltd.

"The latest and, it is hoped, the final delivery promise is July 15, L.O.B. Montreal," the letter advising the city of progress in delivery stated.

Mayor Andrew McGavin has been invited by Mayor F. Devin of Seattle to attend special ceremonies in the Sound City Thursday in honor of British and United States air heroes. The invitation received here also included one for a city band if one can make the trip.

The annual pedestrian count of the downtown area, undertaken in June each year, will be held from 11 to noon and 4 to 5 in the afternoon Saturday, G. A. Okell, city assessor-collector, reported today. Forty men will be engaged in the count, which is taken to determine for taxation purposes the popularity of certain business district corners and other premises past which potential shoppers walk.

As the Union of British Columbia Municipalities executive thought the city's resolution in respect to the Perce River oil development was a matter of government policy, it took no action on the issue, the city was informed today.

Saanich Berry Crop Below Expectations

The Saanich strawberry crop, which has fallen below expectations and is far smaller than former years, is about at its zenith today, growers said. The raspberry crop is also small this year. The borage harvest, expected to get under way in a week, is about average.

Although the strawberry crop was small, the quality has been good, one grower said, and the price, now generally at two boxes for 25 cents, is good. So far only one carload has been shipped to the prairies, the bulk of the harvest being used to supply the local fresh strawberry market and local canneries.

The Wartime Harvesting Corps, formed by the Victoria Chamber of Commerce—Tourist Trade Group and fruit growers of the Saanich Board of Trade, has contributed 80 pickers to assist in the strawberry harvest. The demand for pickers has been met, chamber officers said today.

Appeal Dismissed

The appeal of Theodore E. Begard against conviction and a $30 fine on a charge of driving in a manner dangerous to the public on the Gorge Road last month was dismissed with costs by Judge H. H. Shandley in a County Court judgment on file today.

The appeal is dismissed and I impose a fine of $30 and $75 costs. Judge Shandley's judgment stated.

Busy Man in His 80th Year

Still going strong and working daily, A. W. Semple, 409 Edwards Street, will celebrate his 80th birthday June 25. Born in Victoria, Mr. Semple has lived in this city all his life, and has been 57 years in his present home.

A reception in his honor will be held Thursday afternoon and evening at the home of his son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Semple, 322 Dallas Road. Mr. Semple has been employed by John Weston's carriage building firm on Broad Street for 63 years, and is still on the job.

Wood Retailers See Price Board

Victoria wood fuel dealers who get their product from up-island points, who represent about 50 per cent of all the wood fuel dealers in the city, met officials of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board today in an effort to iron out difficulties arising from the new price ceiling established by the board Saturday.

The up-island dealers represented that the new ceiling price of $4 a cord for fresh cut fir slabs and other prices established, are unfair, in view of the fact that they have to pay $1 a cord freight on the wood, the board's order allowing them only 50 cents a cord above the established ceiling price. Dealers with access to local wood will be able to sell at the prices fixed, they claim.

The meeting started at 2 and was continuing late this afternoon.

The board's statement issued from Vancouver, is as follows: Maximum prices for millwood sold as fuel in the Vancouver and Victoria areas have been fixed by the Wartime Prices and Trade Board.

NOW IN EFFECT

The "ceiling" is effective June 22, and notices have gone out to all dealers.

The prices quoted are the delivered price per cord and refer to millwood 16 inches in length and under. The first figure quoted refers to fresh cut and the second to dry wood:

Fir slabs, $4, $6; fir edgings, $3.75, $5.75; fir slabs and edgings mixed, $3.90, $5.90; slabs and/or edgings other than fir, $3.25, $5.25; inside fir, including fir blocks, $6.50, $6.50; kindling, $6.75, $6.75; fir heater blocks, $5, $5; fir veneer blocks, $6, $6; veneer blocks other than fir, $7.50, $7.50.

"Vancouver area" means the city of Vancouver, city of New Westminster, city of North Vancouver, municipalities of West Vancouver, Burnaby, Port Moody, Coquitlam, Richmond, Surrey, Delta and the district of North Vancouver.

"Victoria area" means the area within a three-mile radius of the Victoria city hall.

In the Victoria area an additional 50 cents per cord may be added for the variety known as "dryland," or "upland" wood.

ASK PATIENCE

In another order issued by the board today users of sawdust are asked to show patience and co-operation in the placing of orders, to curtail consumption and, if possible to use coal instead.

Much of the difficulty arises from customers who order more than they need for the immediate future.

The dealers, wishing to see that all their clients get fuel, are often obliged to cut down on the size of these orders so as to spread the available supply around fairly. Prices for sawdust have been fixed by the board and if there is any misunderstanding about these rates it can be straightened out by reference to the regional office of the board in the Marine Building.

William Knight was sentenced to three months' hard labor today in city court for smashing a window in David Spencer Ltd. last Wednesday and stealing $15 worth of plate silverware. Damages done to the glass and case amounted to $80.

NAVAL CRAFT FIGHT OFF FRANCE?

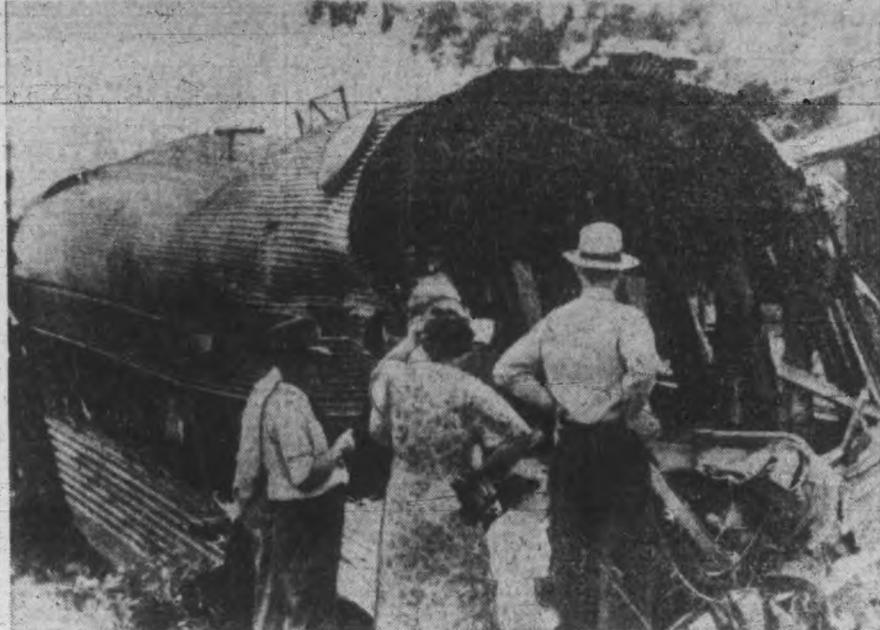

LONDON (AP)—Out of the veil of heat haze, which shrouded the English Channel today were heard the distant thunder of guns and bombs from the direction of France and bursts of closer firing which, for the second time since Sunday night, indicated a clash of surface craft at sea.

Overhead, heard plainly although too high to be seen, a large force of R.A.F. planes raced out over the Channel in the direction of Dunkerque, presumably in a resumption of early daylight assaults on the occupied French coast.

The air activity continued at intervals throughout the day, interspersed with the distant explosions.

Long bursts of firing were heard out at sea late in the morning, but the haze which limited visibility to three miles prevented watchers along the Channel cliffs from seeing what craft were in action.

A Berlin communiqué said there had been a night engagement off the Netherlands coast between German minesweepers and light British naval units.

WRECKAGE THAT LEFT 8 DEAD—Curious spectators examine the crushed shell of a car of Sea-Board Air Line's crack New York-to-Florida "Silver Meteor" as it lies derelict at Kitley, N.C. Eight were killed, 11 injured when fast freight plowed into station. Officials investigating accident were faced with a second mystery: H. M. Terrell, railroad superintendent of the district, was found dead, shot through the mouth, a few hours after the wreck.

New York Stocks

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market today took a bit of a start from a bad war news budget. The direction was downward from the start with losses of fractions to three points. Extreme setbacks were reduced in many cases in the closing hour.

Absence of real selling urgency in the wake of the collapse of Tobruk, the critical Russian position at Sevastopol and enemy shelling of west coast territory was encouraging to bullish contingents. Transfers approximated 325,000 shares.

The Canadian section was slightly off. McIntyre was down 1 1/2, Dome Mines, Canadian Pacific 1/2 and Distillers Seagram 1/2.

Dorothy Dix:

A Man at 40 Reaches Peak of Attractiveness

Dear Miss Dix: I do not ask for advice, for none that anyone could give would help me. The woman I love has refused to marry me and I know that I shall have to remain lonely the rest of my days—if I can find sufficient nerve to continue facing loneliness, which I doubt, for I would rather do away with myself.

Up to the age of 40 I had so many burdens on my shoulders that I could not think of marriage, but time relieved me of them, and I fell deeply in love with a woman who was all that I wanted in a life companion, but she failed to respond to my feelings. With her I know there is definitely no one else; and there never will be another for me.

My purpose in writing is to warn other men not to make the same mistake that I have made and remain a bachelor until it is too late.

Were I to live my life over again I would become a married man at 20.

FORTY AND LONELY.

Answer: To marry too young is even more disastrous to a man than to wait too long to marry. The chances are that if you had married when you were 20 and weighted yourself down with family burdens before your shoulders were strong enough to bear them, you would be a crushed old man at 40 instead of being a man in your prime.

The pretty little flapper that you picked out for a wife when you were an unformed boy might not be at all the kind of a wife you need at 40. You might not be on Easy Street, as you are now, if you had had to support a family that kept you perpetually in debt. Marriage is for adults, not children, and although occasionally a boy and girl marriage does turn out well, most of them end in divorce, or in a marriage that is only an endurance test.

But what makes you think that you are an old man who is done with love and marriage at 40? A man of 40 is as young nowadays as a man was at 30 in your father's time. He is at the peak of his attractiveness to women. He is more interesting than a boy is because he has seen more and knows his way about better. Sophistication appeals especially to women. He is more considerate in his treatment of a woman than a boy is and generally has more money and can show her a better time. Usually he has gotten settled in some line of work by which he can support a family and so he can offer her more security if she marries him than a boy can.

So don't think that because one girl has turned you down that you are destined to remain single. Dozens of girls would jump at the chance to marry a man who has been with you. And don't think you have exhausted your capacity for loving on one girl. You haven't. There is nothing that will take so much punishment and come up smiling as the human heart. You will get over this scratch before you know it and find that the first girl merely opened and deepened your fount of affections.

A DIFFICULT PROBLEM

Dear Miss Dix—I have been married for the second time for almost a year to a man several years younger than I am. We have established a very pleasant home for ourselves and my 12-year-old son by my former marriage. At the outset of this arrangement I deluded myself with the thought that my son and husband held a mutual affection for each other, but on the contrary, they hate each other.

I am now face to face with the unhappy realization that they both are beginning to dislike me, too. My husband because I have such a precocious child. My child because I acquired such an unreasonable husband. Is there anything one can do about such a hopeless muddle?

Answer: The only thing you can do in the situation is to choose between them and decide which is the more important in your life. And this is like asking a woman to cut her heart in two. It isn't a question of which one you love the more, because the love you give your husband and the love you give your child are so different that they do not conflict, though neither one of them will believe that. It is a matter that involves not only the affections and the almost unsolvable problem of to which you owe the greater duty, the son or the husband, but also your own personal security and your future well-being.

You have to take into consideration the fact that a boy of 12 is nearly grown. At the most you will have him only five or six years. Then he will be gone about the business of life and will establish his own home in which you will have no place. But your husband you have presumably for the balance of your life.

But you cannot have them both under the same roof, for, if you do, their dislike and jealousy of each other will grow from day to day and will spoil the peace and happiness of the whole household. So my suggestion is that you send the lad off to a good school, which you probably would do even if home conditions were pleasant.

The widow with children takes a terrible risk when she remarries because it is only once in a blue moon that she gets a husband who does not resent her children. BOUND TO END IN TRAGEDY

Dear Miss Dix—I am deeply in love with a man whose brain is sick and who often has terrible spells. He is under the doctor's care and not able to work. Therefore, if we were to marry, I would have to support us both. I am sure I can do it, but he won't think of it, as he doesn't want to be a burden. But I love him so, and if I don't mind, why should he?

Should I keep on trying to persuade him to marry me, or just go on as we are now?

BOOTS.

Answer: Your mind must be affected more than your friend's if you even think of marrying him under such conditions. Don't do something that is bound to end in tragedy for you both. Don't marry a man just because you are sorry for him and want to mother him and take care of him, for a marriage that is founded on pity doesn't last.

You would get tired of nursing a sick man after a while and you would come to resent having to support him. You would live in fear of having children who might inherit their father's affliction. There is no single element of happiness in such a marriage as you propose. You will be wise to accept the fine, honorable, courageous point of view your sweetheart takes about it.

Love him all you please, but don't marry him.

Fool Watermark Gave Us 'Foolscap Paper'

For hundreds of years, the makers of paper have placed "watermarks" on the sheets. This is done today on a great deal of paper, but not on all kinds. The cheaper grades of paper seldom have watermarks on them.

If you have a letter from a business firm, you probably will be able to find a watermark on it. Hold the paper to the light, and look for words or diagrams. Most likely you will see the word "BOND," along with the name of the paper-maker or some special trade name for the bond paper.

Of eight sheets of letterhead paper which happen to be beside my typewriter, as I write these words, seven have watermarks. One is marked "VELLUM," four are marked "BOND," one is marked "RAG CONTENT," and one has a design but no word on it.

Italy seems to have been the place where watermarks were invented. About the year 1280, Italian papermakers started to mark their paper with designs of one kind or another. Some put crosses on their paper. Others used circles or triangles.

The marking was done while the paper was wet, in other words, while it had water in it. This gives us the reason for the name "watermark."

A piece of thin wire, bent to the proper shape, was pressed against the wet paper. After the paper was finished, and was quite dry, a person could hold it to the light and see the marking with little trouble.

A fleur-de-lis, the mark of France, is among the designs which were used in western Europe in the thirteenth and fourteenth centuries. Another design was a "post horn."

The post horn watermark showed the simple outline of a horn, hanging from a cord. Early postmen carried horns of this kind, and blew them when they were coming near to deliver mail. Still another early watermark showed the head of a fool. The fool was fitted with cap and bells, such as were worn in many castles and palaces of Europe by court fools, or jesters.

The foolscap design became popular among the paper-makers. Although we may seldom find it in a modern watermark, there is today a standard type of paper known as "foolscap."

Some paper in "limited edition" books is made by hand, and may be watermarked. It is more expensive than machine-made paper which comes from mills in huge rolls.

Watermarks can be placed on machine-made paper with little extra cost. A "dandy roll" presses the words or designs on the wet paper.

4 Victorians Leave R.M.C.

KINGSTON, ONT. (CP)—Four men from Victoria, B.C. were among the largest class in the history of Royal Military College graduated here Saturday, leaving the college without cadets for the first time since it was founded in 1876.

The Earl of Athlone, Canada's Governor-General and H.R.H. Princess Alice attended the ceremonies and the solemn laying-away of the colors later in St. George's Cathedral.

The Victorians in the class were C.Q.M.S. I. D. MacDonald, Cpl. Fred P. T. Winslow, Cpl. J. Martin and Cadet H. S. Rogers.

Cpl. Winslow was given the Peter F. Birks Memorial trophy, awarded to the most useful player in inter-company sport.

Cpl. Winslow also shared in two other prizes. With two other eastern cadets, he won the large Bexhill Cup, awarded to three cadets obtaining highest marks in the several branches of training. Then he shared the Prince of Wales Cup with Cpl. Martin. It was awarded to those best in all-around athletics during the entire course. Cpl. Martin also was awarded the prize for physical training.

The Earl of Athlone presented prizes in Currie Hall.

(Fred Winslow is the second son of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Winslow, Craigdarroch Road. His older brother, Capt. Edward Winslow, at present is in England.)

(Ian MacDonald is the son of Mr. and Mrs. John MacDonald, Transit Road.)

(John Martin is a grandson of Mrs. John Galt, Rockland Avenue.)

Recruits Sought

C.W.A.C. Office Opens Downtown

The Canadian Women's Army Corps Recruiting Detachment under the command of Lieut. Vanessa M. O'Shea, opened a recruiting headquarters for Victoria and vicinity in the Bay Street Armories today, and will remain there for a few days.

A large number of recruits for active service are urgently needed by this women's organization, which has been growing rapidly in strength since it was first organized by Major Joan Kennedy, now officer administering the corps at National Defence Headquarters, Ottawa. More than 500 British Columbia women are now in uniform as members of the Canadian Army. They have replaced nearly an equal number of men in the offices, canteens and Royal Canadian Ordnance Corps, and have supplied a large number of drivers for various types of army vehicles.

GOOD RESULTS

Lieut. Leona McIlvena, staff officer at District Headquarters, states that the results of the recruiting campaign so far in Vancouver and New Westminster have been quite satisfactory, as more than 100 girls have been enlisted during the last two weeks. Lieut. McIlvena says that approximately 200 recruits will be needed each month from now on in order to take care of the constant calls from the various departments and services.

The recruiting office in the Armories will be open all day from 9 to 6, but any applicants who desire interviews during the evening can arrange them by telephoning Lieut. O'Shea, E4103. While all single women or married women without dependents between the ages of 18 and 45 are eligible for enlistment, providing they are physically fit and British subjects, there is a great demand at the present time for telephone and teletype operators, clerks, stenographers, typists, stock handlers, cooks and waitresses, and a special drive is being made for recruits in these categories.

ON EQUAL BASIS

Upon joining, the Canadian Women's Army Corps the recruit becomes a member of the Canadian Active Army and has the same rights and privileges as any other soldier. Their smart uniforms are being seen in increasing numbers in the streets and Lieut. McIlvena states that the new summer uniforms, made of summer-weight tropical, worsted, are on the way, and will be ready for issue in the near future.

Applicants for enlistment should apply to the recruiting office in the Armories, or write to the staff officer, Canadian Women's Army Corps, Work Point Barracks, Esquimalt, for full information.

Women Carriers Only Temporary

Despite the announcement of an Ottawa post office official that there will be women mail sorters and clerks, G. H. Gardiner, Victoria postmaster, who pioneered women mail carriers in Canada, said today while women mail carriers have not, and would not be taken on the permanent staff, they would still be used for temporary duties as mail carriers.

Tests made in Toronto, Timmins, Ont., and Victoria have indicated women lack the physical stamina required on postal routes, the Ottawa official said, but women are included in a civil service announcement of examinations for postal clerks.

Mr. Gardiner said he had been quite satisfied with the women employed in Victoria as mail carriers, and suggested the Ottawa announcement was the general policy for permanent, not temporary employment.

Although Victoria has had as many as three women letter carriers on routes at the same time, there was only one woman on today.

GLAD TO GET ANYONE

Mr. Gardiner said he was glad to get anybody these days, and preferred having women to men on the reserve lists, because they were easier to get when wanted. He said his experience had been that young, husky women were as satisfactory as old men for temporary duty.

"As far as permanent duty," he said, "it's a different story."

The adoption of this policy will not meet with the approval of Victoria women carriers who, after the first couple of weeks in which they learned the only way to come home at night without burning feet was to wear low-heeled shoes, said they were looking forward to joining the permanent staff.

Previous to the war males were stipulated for mail sorting and mail-carrying jobs, but now females are taking civil service examinations to become mail sorters.

While Victoria women carriers have been in the news, 12 women sorters have been taken on here and the post office now employs two girls to deliver special delivery letters.

A.R.P. Activities

2-A-East wardens will meet Tuesday evening at 8, at Margaret Jenkins School. G. Hebdon will give his second lecture on war gases. First aid certificates will be distributed.

'2nd Front Need Urgent' Beaverbrook Declares

BIRMINGHAM, Eng. (CP)—Lord Beaverbrook, who has been one of Prime Minister Churchill's closest collaborators in industrial production for war, declared Sunday: "There must be no unnecessary delay in sending forthwith a second expeditionary force to fight on a second front."

Addressing a crowd observing the anniversary of the German attack on Russia, one day in advance, Lord Beaverbrook said also: "We have been promised a second front. We have been promised it by the government. Now the need is for urgency."

Lord Beaverbrook, who faced one of the greatest open air meetings in Birmingham's history, called for "hatred" until final victory is won.

He charged the German people approved Hitler at every stage as he led them from "crime to crime."

"Some persons in high places have stood firmly against a second front—we must let them go their way."

Lord Beaverbrook said "now is the time for us to show we are warriors of the world, not by money and munitions, of plans or projects but by hard, sharp blows and killing and killing."

He said Russian pilots had shot down 12,000 German planes in the last year.

Meanwhile, Labor Minister

Ernest Bevin, in a broadcast directed at German trade unionists, asked: "How long are you going to stand by and allow this madness to go on in your own country?"

"It may be no use appealing to you," he added, "but if it isn't at least let it be a warning of what your fellow workmen feel in other countries about your acquiescence and support of this terrorist rule."

He said the working classes of the United Nations would not abandon the fight until the Nazi regime is obliterated and peace terms, he declared, will be made by "those who fought... not those who stood aside."

Application Card FOR Coupon Rationing OF SUGAR

Canadians are now required to register so that ration cards, good for the 10-week period, commencing July 1st, may be issued immediately. At the end of that period a coupon ration book, good for six months, will be issued.

Residents of the Urban Areas served by Letter Carrier

Tomorrow, Tuesday, June 23rd, an application card for coupon rationing of sugar will be delivered by the postman to every household in areas served by letter carrier.

A pamphlet giving complete instructions will accompany each card. Application cards will also be delivered for those not bearing the same last name as the head of the household.

Additional cards, if needed, may be secured from local post offices.

Canvassers will personally collect Cards

Cards should be filled out complete in every detail and held ready for the authorized representative of the Wartime Prices and Trade Board who will call to collect them on Thursday evening, June 25th. It is important that a responsible member of your family be at home when the Board representative calls.

The representative will be a member of your own community who is giving his or her time, without pay, for this important national service. Give these neighbours your utmost co-operation.

Residents in Urban Areas Not Served by Letter Carrier, and Residents in Rural Areas

Application cards for coupon rationing of sugar will have been distributed through local post offices for all householders in these areas by tomorrow, Tuesday, June 23rd.

Additional cards will also be delivered for every person resident in the household who bears a different last name from the head of the household. If needed, extra cards may be secured from local post offices.

A pamphlet giving full instructions will accompany each application card.

These application cards should be filled out immediately and dropped in the nearest mail box or post office.

As soon as your household's names are duly registered at headquarters, sugar ration cards, good for a 10-week period, commencing July 1st, will be mailed you—one ration card for each person in your home.

Beginning July 1st, no one will be permitted to buy sugar for regular domestic use without a ration coupon.

Prompt co-operation on the part of the public in filling out and returning their application cards is necessary to ensure return of the ration coupon card in time to purchase sugar on or after the above date.

Remember—the amount of sugar allowed each individual under the new coupon rationing plan will be exactly the same as allowed at present—1 pound per person per week.

The provision for additional sugar for preserving, etc., will be continued.

Special voucher forms for this purpose are being supplied to all retailers.

No person may have on hand more than two weeks' supply of sugar, unless resident in a remote district.
